Group Practice Rules Sought by Attorneys

The Post-Crescent A 12
Wednesday, August 16, 1972

THE WORD

IS

MADISON — The State Bar of Wisconsin will ask the State Supreme Court to add to its rules governing the practice of law a requirement for registration and reporting on prepaid legal services plans springing up in Wisconsin, as they have elsewhere in the country. The pre-paid plans, resembling group health care insurance plans in the medical field, typically involve sponsorship by an organization such as a labor union or federation of unions. A special committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin named to study the development concluded that such services now exist, that they are likely to proliferate if Wisconsin trends follow those of other states and notably California, and that some employers are likely to show interest in such contractual arrangements. Under the circumstances, some degree of public supervision and control may be needed, the study committee suggested. The advisory committee of leading lawyers said that registration and reporting to the court is proper under its responsibility for policing the bar and controlling unauthorized practice of law. Such responsibility cannot be served without precise information on the operating practices of group legal service plans, it was said. "The desirability or feasibility of group legal practice is no longer a matter for speculation," the study committee concluded. "Due in part to union and other initiative, and in part to consistent support by the United States Supreme Court, it is already here."

Review Board OKs 15 Cuts In Assessment

City Revaluation,
Private Club Policy
Spark Annual Session

Owners of 15 Appleton properties won reductions averaging 10 per cent in the assessed valuation placed on their holdings by the assessor's office, while eight other owners got the thumbs-down sign when they appeared before this year's annual session of the Board of Review Monday and Tuesday.

The board wound up its year's business Tuesday noon after granting reductions totalling $37,200 in an assessment roll set at $198,729,950 by Assessor George Schwarzbauer when the session began Monday morning.

It was the shortest session in recent board history, logging nine hours, compared to five days of five or more hours each in other years.

It was also a stormy one, with periodic flareups in the continuing clash between Schwarzbauer and City Clerk Elden Broehm, and it again raised the issue of whether the city needs a general reassessment in order to eliminate unfair assessments that critics believe are widespread.

Fraternal Organizations
Another issue revived this year was the assessment policy toward fraternal organizations that make a profit by opening their facilities to the public.

Last year, the board removed the Appleton Elks Lodge from the assessment rolls. Schwarzbauer objected, saying that the board overstepped its authority and this year he not only restored the club to the rolls as taxable property, but announced the club will be doubly assessed to make up for last year.

In addition, he revealed that he has placed the Columbus Club on the rolls for the first time this year as another private club which he considers taxable because its facilities are profit-making by being open to the public.

Broehm suggested that since Schwarzbauer is double-assessing the Elks he should treat the Columbus Club similarly. Some board members agreed, after Schwarzbauer said he has authority to go back as many as five years before the current year, or a total of six years.

Different Treatment
The assessor reasoned that the Elks Club was removed illegally last year, but the Columbus Club had never been on the rolls, and therefore the two should be treated differently.

At one point during a lull between appeal hearings, Schwarzbauer told Broehm, "I'll take care of the assessing and you take care of the clerking." Broehm replied, "I'm a member of the board of review, and we're entitled to ask these questions."

Broehm is automatically secretary and a voting member of the board by virtue of his office. He also complained that the board scheduled its annual hearings during the same week that the City Council and several of its committees meet, creating an uncomfortable work load for the clerk's office.

The reassessment issue arose during an appearance by Raymond A. Bennett, 1119 E. Nawada Court, who sought a reduction in the $10,075 assessed valuation on his home.

The board granted him a $204 reduction, but Bennett said that was too little.

'Single Out'
Bennett's assessed valuation is close to 37 per cent of the sale price he paid when he bought it last year, and thus to the citywide average ratio of assessed to full value. But he argued that since other homes in his neighborhood have not been reassessed recently, and fall below the 37 per cent average, he is being singled out unfairly.

"If you charge me this much, I wish you'd charge everybody this much," he told the board. He later declared, "The only resource that I have is to let other people who are in trouble and try to bring this tax base up."

He made the statement after City Atty. David Geenen told him his only legal alternative is a court action to attempt to have his valuation lowered more.

Ald. Judith Wenzel, 12th, who is Bennett's neighbor, agreed that other properties in the neighborhood are under-assessed. She said she agrees that a citywide reassessment is necessary and she told Bennett, "I think it's going to happen."

In Older Neighborhoods
Mrs. Wenzel said unfairness exists particularly in older neighborhoods where homes are under-assessed because they have not recently been inspected and re-evaluated by the assessor's office.

This Big Cottonwood Tree at 3000 W. Wisconsin Ave. rates among the top five cottonwoods in the state, a state Department of Natural Resources official estimated today. The tree, on property leased to Herbert Dorn by Anthony Masaros, is 22 feet, 11 inches in circumference, and an estimated 84 feet tall with a crown spread of 100 feet. A DNR official said the tree ranks behind cottonwood trees in Grant, Walworth and Calumet counties. The Calumet County tree, located southwest of Stockbridge in an old cemetery, is 22 feet, 10 inches in circumference, 114 feet high and has a crown spread of 104 feet, according to DNR records. Masaros, who is five feet, five inches tall, stands beside his tree, to emphasize its size. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Vocational School Space Is Sought By Drop-In Center

After hearing a vigorous appeal by Appleton Youth Drop-In Center officials for use of space program "wholeheartedly," and has in the former Appleton Vocational School, the Board of Public Works has set Sept. 5 as the deadline for similar appeals could be a step toward added support from other segments of the community, she said.

The Rev. Thomas MacLachlan, president of the center board, and Mrs. Judith Patterson, Drug Council, Inc., representative on the board, said the center is providing an unparalleled service in the community and with adequate space has prospects for improved service in the future.

But the city's decision on the vocational school space request would make the difference between the continuation of this program and the conclusion of it, said MacLachlan.

Trouble Sources
The center provides a comprehensive array of services to young people and parents, ranging from social counseling to counseling and referral services in education, vocational training, drug abuse cases, family problems, and other trouble sources for youth, he said.

Mrs. Patterson said the center's two adult counselors, Rev. Bishop and Nick Bohn, are performing a service for the community that is invaluable.

She said they have managed to maintain a very delicate balance between the needs of the community and the needs of the center.

Older Neighborhoods
Mrs. Wenzel said unfairness exists particularly in older neighborhoods where homes are under-assessed because they have not recently been inspected and re-evaluated by the assessor's office.

Kimberly Gets Funds for Park

$26,975 From U.S.
To Help Develop
West Side Site

KIMBERLY — A $26,975 federal grant for initial development of the Third Street West Side Park has been approved, according to word received by village officials from the office of Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis.

The village received the grant as part of its five-year park program set up last year which calls for expenditures of $221,800 from 1971 to 1976. Development of the Third Street park, which consists of approximately four acres, is planned over the next three years.

Projects presently scheduled for completion include storm and sanitary lines, water mains, grading and decorative lighting for approximately half the site. Park and playground equipment is to be purchased, picnic facilities and a playground.

Ideally Suited
Drop-in center officials have not yet inspected the interior of the vocational school, but MacLachlan and Mrs. Patterson both said the location and facilities should be ideally suited to the center's needs. The works board arranged to have representatives appointed to the building for a first-hand look.

But the board took immediate action on the appeal, one of several suggestions received for ultimate use of the building, which are currently being kept for use of a small area by the city parking meter department and assumed use of the former school library for book storage by the public library.

On Monday, Ald. Judith Wenzel, 12th, said she would be taking the matter to the board for their consideration.

North Central Denies Hyphen Is Confusing

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Badgered by lengthy cross-examination, the vice president of sales and traffic of North Central Airlines defended his airline's service to Appleton via Oshkosh airport and warned that eliminating Appleton officially from its market through dehyphenation would damage the airline financially and not be in the public's best interest.

David Moran, who was on the stand three hours Tuesday afternoon and over an hour today, said loss of the Appleton area could conceivably force North Central to eliminate a "marginal" (low-passenger) flight out of Oshkosh. He didn't specify a flight.

Moran was North Central's main witness at the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearing at the Outagamie County courthouse on whether to dehyphenate the Oshkosh-Appleton route certification of North Central. He testified that North Central opposed the dehyphenation.

He denied that there was confusion caused by passengers ending up in Oshkosh when they wanted to land in Appleton and testified that the drive from the Oshkosh airport to Appleton wasn't an inconvenience in air travel.

Moran was cross-examined by Alexander Argerakis, senior trial attorney for the CAB operating rights bureau, and John Mern, legal counsel for Appleton-Outagamie County.

Offer Option
In cross-examination, he admitted that North Central reservations clerks promote North Central flights to Appleton with customers who ask for tickets to Appleton. But, he added, he felt that he could "not deny our employees the right to encourage the use of our airline."

He said North Central clerks offer travelers the option of North Central to Appleton via the Oshkosh airport. He agreed with Argerakis that "it might be" confusing to Appleton-bound travelers unfamiliar with the Appleton-Oshkosh area to tell them that they can land in either the Oshkosh or Appleton airports.

Appleton-Outagamie's petition seeking dehyphenation contends that passengers and freight coming to Appleton have been misdirected to Oshkosh because of the hyphenated listing in North Central's route designation certification. Numerous pro-dehyphenation witnesses have testified since last Tuesday that they or their firms have suffered inconvenience or expense because of this.

Separate Markets
Appleton - Outagamie specifically is requesting that the two air markets — Oshkosh and Appleton — be separated, and that Air Wisconsin, the Appleton-based commuter air carrier, serve the Fox Cities and North Central, the second-level airline, serve Oshkosh.

Wisconsin Rapids - Marshfield and Sheboygan are seeking similar dehyphenations from North Central's Manitowish-Sheboygan and Mosinee-Wausau-Sheboygan Point-Marshfield-Wisconsin Rapids route certifications.

Moran urged that the petitions be rejected. He said the dehyphenation of the three points would cost North Central about $150,000 in revenues in the first full year. The dehyphenation probably would increase Air Wisconsin's passenger and freight shipments since North Central would no longer officially be serving the Appleton area.

Moran also testified that hyphenation was the result of CAB policy for regional airports and he said "dehyphenation would establish a strong precedent for abolishing that policy."

"Disservice to Public"

But the most serious consequence, he said, is the "disservice" to the public because it would create the impression that there was only one airline service to Appleton — Air Wisconsin.

Moran denied that there was any confusion about the service to Appleton as explained in the Official Airline Guide. He said shippers and passengers should not be confused by the listing adding that to dehyphenate — and thus eliminate the listing's cross-reference to North Central serving Appleton — would add to the confusion.

G. E. Henecke, group vice president of Klau-Van Pelt & Associates, Inc., Milwaukee, testified earlier that a North Central-requested telephone survey by his firm indicated that there was little confusion at the transportation level in getting air service to the Oshkosh-Appleton area.

He said his firm, which has done promotional work for North Central for 25 years, chose cities at random across the nation in its survey — basing the choices only on a geographical balance.

Found No Complaints

Moran said North Central, in another survey, found no complaints from passengers or freight-shippers in the areas affected by the dehyphenation. He said the only hyphen-related complaint he could recall since being named vice president in 1967 was at Ludington-Manistee, Mich.

He also defended North

'Belt-Tightening' Vocational Budget Faces a Trimming

BY MAIJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A request for some "belt-tightening" in these times of economic problems, made by the Appleton Taxpayers Association, has sent the $6.3 million Fox Valley Technical Institute budget back to the drawing boards.

The plea for reconsideration was made Tuesday at a public hearing conducted by the Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 board.

The operation budget is $5.6 million. The difference is made up by the building fund. The debt retirement for the district is $579,440 and the building fund expenditure is $21,819.

The increase from the previous budget is a little over $1 million, but the mill rate went up only 5 cents and stands at $1.05, due to an increase in the tax base in the district.

The state allows vocational technical districts to tax up to $2 per $1,000 equalized valuation and VTAE-12 has no power to increase the rate, William Sneyd, director, pointed out.

Educated Guessing

It also was pointed out that because of a composite of unknown figures, many of the statistics listed reflect educated guesses.

"The only thing we know for sure," explained Donald Horn, head of finances, "is that we are receiving $100,000 less than expected in state aids. That will have to be subtracted from the income side."

Acknowledging that the district's needs are great with the new buildings and the increase in programs and enrollments, Walter Wiekert from the taxpayers' group, still asked that a budget be considered.

"For one thing, you want to always have an increase in the tax base. For another, the times are so bad and the taxes are going up so rapidly it would be a great service to the community if you did take another look at the budget," he pleaded. The group obviously had studied the budget thoroughly and had come prepared with recommendations for paring, he said.

Fiscal Budgeting

They did acknowledge, however, that they were aware that increases and the budget are difficult to analyze, and this is the first year the board has had to go to fiscal year budgeting.

Among the recommendations during the budget was that $1,332 be cut from the $1,332 recommended for the purchase of equipment.

Another $7,000 could be cut from the research and development operating costs, and an additional $20,000 from the custodial staff, the taxpayers' group said.

Instructional salaries could be cut by $60,000, it was recommended, but that is one of the unknown figures that could

VTAE-12 Board Opposed to Adding Associate Degrees

Firm opposition has been voiced by the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 Board to any attempt to broaden its program to include associate degree work.

The action was stated in a resolution and passed unanimously Tuesday at the VTAE-12 board meeting.

Although the law states that VTAE schools shall "initiate, develop, maintain, and supervise programs with specific occupational orientations below the baccalaureate level," there has been some fear in the past few months that there could be role-switching with the University of Wisconsin.

A number of technical institutes in the state already are offering transfer courses and the fear stems from the fact that this could become a two-way street, with the universities taking on the technical programs.

"We strongly support the currently existing professional partnership between the University of Wisconsin and technical institutes," the resolution reaffirming the role of the institute, marked the fifth anniversary of the organization of the district.

As part of the action, William Sneyd, director of Fox Valley Technical Institute, presented a plan for the five-year period.

Of major importance was the plan of the Fox Valley Technical Institute. The seven-year plan will be expanded to include a two-year plan for the next five years, and a three-year plan for the next five years.

The taxpayers will have an opportunity to vote on the plan at a dedication and open house at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 27, at the William Steiger Ballroom, Sheraton Hotel.

An average of two programs a year have been added to the curriculum, making a total of 20 offerings this fall.

A total of 2,500 full-time students are expected this fall, compared with 2,000 in 1971. In 1967, there were 850 students.

The part-time adult and evening school programs have expanded as well, both in offerings and in enrollments. A total of 15,000 are expected to enroll this fall, compared with 12,000 the year before.

Part-time programs are offered in 20 communities in the district. Many of the career programs have been individualized as students may enroll as late as November, allowing approximately 12 weeks of time for completion of the program.

Balliet, Longtime Postmaster, Dies

Stephen D. Balliet, 85, 555 N. Badger Ave., a former Appleton postmaster who had served in that position longer than any other man before or since, died Tuesday night after a long illness.

He served as postmaster from 1945 to 1965 when he retired at age 65.

He was a past exalted ruler of the Elks Club and a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Survivors include the widow, a daughter, two sons, four brothers, three sisters, 12 grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren.

Turning Fiction Into Reality Is Libertarian Party's Goal

BY ROBERT LAUX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The doctrines of novelist Ayn Rand have been revived by the libertarians, a new political party launched in Wisconsin Tuesday by Jim A. Millard, an 18-year-old industrial engineer.

Millard, of route 2, Menasha, announced the formation and goals of the party in a press conference at a Town of Grand Chute motor lodge. He had been named the temporary chairman of the Libertarian Party state chapter in an Aug. 3 meeting at Madison.

The national Libertarian Party began a June 17 convention in Denver of about 100 Ayn Rand followers. Millard said the party has a membership of 1,200 nationally, concentrated in Colorado, southern California and Sacramento, New York City and Texas.

Limited Government

Millard said anyone who has read the novels and agrees with Ayn Rand's defense of laissez-faire capitalism would sympathize with the party's goals. Simply stated, the party opposes all government attempts to do anything except maintain a police, court and national defense system.

Millard said

All other functions now vested with government units, from fire protection to public education, Millard said, should revert to private ownership and control. Businessmen operating under the classic model of free market competition could provide these services at a lower cost to the public than the government, he believes.

To perform public services, business must first be freed from governmental regulations which stifle profits, and from consumer legislation which is "slowly killing the economy of this country," he added.

No Taxes at All

The party, he said, has taken a "no-tax stand." Residential and commercial services, such as police protection would be financed through voluntary contributions. Freed from the property tax, parents would pay for the types of schools they wanted, and business would help to put poorer children in schools through charitable contributions.

Millard admitted that the social and economic conditions which would make a

Council Never Got Finance Critiques

The firm that has audited Appleton municipal financial records the past several years was accused Tuesday of failing to tell city officials about critical messages it wrote concerning the former city finance director's methods. But a spokesman for the firm today denied knowledge of any such criticisms.

Ronald Mattox & Associates, formerly Pusch, Larson & Seifer, submitted highly critical memos to former

Weather Won't Cancel Republican Corn Roast

Rain or no, the Outagamie County Republican Party corn roast is "go," party officials announced this morning.

The annual event, featuring corn and other nourishment and the presence of GOP candidates in various local and regional election campaigns, is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. at Greenfield Community Park at the intersection of Finance Director David Champion, but the memos never were passed on to the city council or its finance committee or official who worked under Champion said.

LaVerne Grunwald, accounts supervisor in the city finance department under Champion and currently under newly hired Finance Director Reynold Running, made the charges during a meeting of the finance committee.

The subject came up when Aid. Bruce Stutzman (1st) suggested the city should consider other accounting firms to perform the next city audit. Aid. Walter Kalata (2nd) suggested as he has in the past hiring state auditors to examine the city's books.

Grunwald told the committee that the private firm had sent highly critical comments to Champion. "You never saw them, and I never saw them," Grunwald said. He did not nor say how he learned of their existence.

He agreed with committee members who said the firm was employed by the city and should have made its criticisms known to the council.

LeRoy Seifert, an officer of the auditing firm who worked closely with Champion and past finance committees of the municipal audit and related matters, said this morning he was unaware of "anything major" in the form of letters or memos from his office to Champion's

Outagamie County Executive Alvin Woelner today refused to put the county's insurance coverage out on bids, and told the finance committee that he wanted no further encroachment on his administrative authority.

Outagamie pays about $120,000 annually in premiums for coverage of its property and personnel. For the past two years, the entire insurance portfolio, with the exception of some group health policies, has been handled by Corday Insurance Agencies Inc. of Appleton.

The county board's finance committee had insisted Woelner to obtain bids on the policies. Supl. John Marzoni, Appleton, explained that the entire insurance coverage carries the lowest possible price tag.

Marzoni asked, "How do you know," and Woelner said, "Because I'm telling you."

Woelner said it was the committee's responsibility to determine what coverage was needed, and his administrative duty to select the insurance policy and to decide how they are to be awarded.

He also claimed that, as "pure administrator," he was not subject to the same political pressures as the committee's individual supervisors. He said Supl. John Schrinner, Appleton, "has a greater responsibility than I do — I represent the entire county, you represent Seifert said the firm periodically made suggestions for various changes in finance department procedures, and added that besides memos these suggestions were often offered orally.

"Nothing has ever gone out formally," Seifert said. He added he would attempt to find out in greater detail what Gruenwald was referring to.

Trimester Studied or Hortonville

ORTONVILLE — School administrators and the Board of Education are studying a variety of solutions to the problem of the 45-15 split schedules with possible longer class days, and a trimester plan.

Senior high Principal Robert L. discussed the trimester plan with the board Monday night. The plan would basically be a 12-month school year with three semesters instead of two.

Officials stressed that the proposals being studied are not final. Many plans are being considered for next year, they said.

Solutions to the overcrowding problems have been studied for a year, since the election defeated a building referendum last fall.

To help ease the congestion problems this year, the board will use two classrooms in the Community Hall for seventh and eighth grade mathematics. The district will pay rent for the hall, instead of asking the American Legion to use the hall.

Students will be bused from the hall each hour. The heat ventilators will be called in the old coal bin, and lighting is being moved in the basement room.

Painting the room, and other business Monday, the board approved bids for milk.

Standard Oil received the No. 1 bid for 14.6 cents a use.

County Takes Custody of 3 Children

Tots Put in Foster Home After Being Alone in House

The Outagamie Department of Social Services will retain the custody of three children who on July 19 were removed from their home by Appleton police, according to a ruling Monday by Outagamie Branch 3 Judge R. Thomas Cane.

The youngsters will be in a foster home for 60 days pending further court action.

Cane also ordered that the parents pay $60 support for the children and that they receive counseling from the department of social services.

Police removed the children, ages 1, 2 and 3, from their home after a complaint that one child was beaten by his father. The youngster was hospitalized for examination of a black eye and a bruised head.

Police reported that when they went to the home the children were alone and the parents were at a tavern. There were garbage, dirty dishes and spoiled food in the kitchen and human waste and clothing on the floor, police said.

After the police investigation, the children were placed in the county's Juvenile Receiving Home, from where they were transferred to the foster home. The mother, meanwhile, called with an Appleton Health Department investigator and reportedly has agreed to clean the house. It will be checked by the city housing inspector.

Outagamie Branch 2 Judge Nick F. Schaefer gave the Department of Social Services temporary emergency custody of the children on July 20.

Youth Ordered To Boys' School

A 16-year-old Appleton youth was ordered sent to Lincoln School for Boys, Merrill, when he appeared Tuesday before Judge R. Thomas Cane in Outagamie County Court Branch 3.

The boy will remain at the school until he is 18.

The youth was apprehended by Appleton police July 22 in relation to a bicycle theft, and was arrested again by the police Aug. 1 on separate charges of absconding from a downtown restaurant and with public intoxication.

The youth has had a succession of brushes with the law, appearing in juvenile court on numerous occasions dating from 1969.

Farm Families Are Honored At State Fair

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Weather and youth set a pleasant scene Tuesday for the Wisconsin State Fair's tribute to farm families.

More than 60 families from 44 counties were cited for perseverance and dedication. The ceremonies were in honor of families which have operated Wisconsin farms for at least a century.

Because rain discouraged attendance Friday when youngsters were allowed to enter the grounds admission-free, the offer was repeated Tuesday under pleasant skies.

The day's count of visitors and employees was reported at 124,275, best of the 10-day fair's first five days.

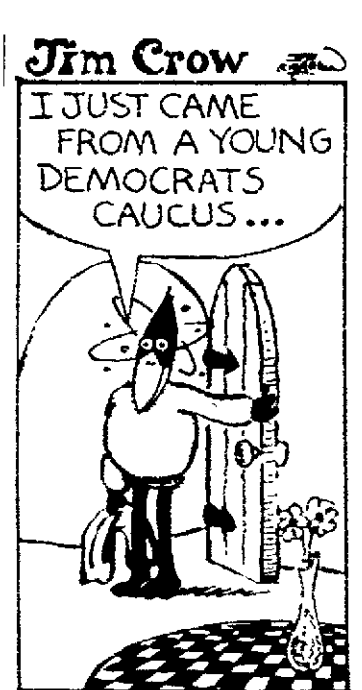

The figure midway in the exposition is 474,165, compared with 482,812 for the comparable period last season.

In the draft horse judging, the Clydesdale senior champion stallion title was given Raymond V. Emmons of Galesville. Jones Farms of Bangor won several Clydesdale ribbons, including grand display and grand champion stallion.

In Percheron judging, Arthur East of Hartford won a number of stallion ribbons, best of breed and grand display.

Learning Community Eyes OCTC for Classroom Space

KAUKAUNA — Scott Davies, with recommendations which a representative of Riverside Learning Community, has made to the community, formed Mayor Robert LaPlante and members of the finance and personnel committee that his organization is interested in acquiring classroom space at the former Outagamie County Teachers College.

The learning community, an alternative to traditional education in the Fox Cities, is interested in renting three or four small classrooms to accommodate 20 to 50 students.

LaPlante and Davies said the first of the classrooms committee will be to secure the space, but the action pending further study by a steering committee which he appointed to recommend building usage.

The steering committee has scheduled a public meeting on the matter for 7 p.m. next Wednesday in the council chambers at City Hall. Area residents paying taxes on building use will be recognized at that time.

Appointments
The steering committee will meet at 7 p.m. next Wednesday and named Robert Davies, director of Riverside Learning Community, as chairman. Mrs. Eugene Verlander was named vice chairman and Pam Blajeski, a Kaukauna High School student, was elected secretary.

The committee has representatives from various walks of life and covering all age brackets. The mayor said he hopes the committee will come up with a plan by the end of the month. Elizabeth Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Rice, will be in charge.

State Insurance Fund Winds Up With a Profit

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Rebounding from a paper loss of $807,326 in 1970, the State Insurance Fund turned a $32,298 profit last year, fund administrators report.

The 1370 deficit in the state's self-insurance program stemmed from a 1970 bombing at the University of Wisconsin and the Old Main fire at UW-Whitewater, fund administrator B.E. Hogoboom said.

Most of the $2 million State Hall bombing claim has barred yet to be paid because proof-of-loss documents have not been submitted for the building damage, Hogoboom said.

He said more than $300,000 has been paid out of the fund for equipment damaged, however.

The fund returned to the black by collecting $1 million in premium and receiving claims for only $314,653 last year.

The fund would look healthier, but the legislature has tapped it for $20 million in ready cash since 1955.

Hogoboom said the fund was actually unscathed in 1964 when the state Capitol was damaged by a fire.

That Weight Will Stay Off if You Keep Trying

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D. During the last year I was a member of a group of people who have been overweight since the day I was born. All through my childhood and teens I was 115 pounds to one. After reading always on one end of diet or the other, I decided to lose another 100 pounds. I have been told that if I lose 10 or 15 or 20 pounds, I will be able to keep it off. I agree with you, but I have found that if I lose 10 or 15 or 20 pounds, I will be able to keep it off. I agree with you, but I have found that if I lose 10 or 15 or 20 pounds, I will be able to keep it off.

It seems to me you're totally of eating that caused the fat in ignoring what ought to be the first place. It's a silly most important part of your illogical attitude of course but you can't lose weight if you don't eat right. Repeatedly you've lost when someone has spent a lifetime getting fat. It takes a lot of time to change habits. Yet those habits are what you haven't yet learned what have to be changed. What you haven't yet learned what have to be changed. What you haven't yet learned what have to be changed.

stop losing. But don't start getting fat again later, the same way you did in the first place. Many folks it is quite likely that a weight-loss "plateau" is reached now and then. You stop losing — temporarily. But if you stick with the program, you presently lose some more, reach a plateau, then lose still more. As to that operation to lose weight, I wouldn't recommend it for you unless you have plenty of money to spend on it. It means major surgery, plus close medical supervision to make sure you get enough of the necessary food elements while your digestive tract is short-circuited. And on top of that, you still have to eat some real eating. Don't be discouraged because you lose 20 pounds and then have to eat some real eating.

175 Americans Missing in Lost Planes

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today that 175 Americans are missing in the Hanoi-Haiphong corridor, while nearly 30 B-52s dropped bombs since the Communists launched their offensive. Nearly half of them have been lost over North Vietnam.

Another 72 Americans have been killed and 55 have been wounded in aircraft crashes. The Command said the B-52s' targets were fuel drums, guns and bullets stacked in scattered, camouflaged areas and awaiting shipment to South Vietnam's northern front, sources said.

The two Phantom crewmen are listed as missing. One American aboard the A-1H Cobra gunship was reported killed and one wounded.

According to the U.S. Command's records, 126 planes and 60 helicopters have been lost in the war since March 30, when the North Vietnamese offensive started.

The Command said 76 of the planes have been lost over North Vietnam, and 82 of their crewmen are missing. North Vietnam has announced the names of 21 who have been captured.

In the air war today and Tuesday, U.S. B-52 bombers and jet fighterbombers attacked supply lines, fuel depots and warehouses in North Vietnam.

C5A Trouble Allegedly Hidden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire today accused the Air Force of covering up another C5A jet transport incident.

The Wisconsin Democrat said the landing gear on one of the massive and problem-plagued aircraft cracked while the plane was taxiing July 14 at the Royal Air Force Base at Mildenhall, England.

"This is yet another indication of the faulty workmanship and mismanagement that has gone into the C5A program," Proxmire said in a statement.

As a result of the incident, Proxmire said, the limits on the C5A gross weight was reduced for 44 of the 55 aircraft from 712,500 pounds to 650,000 pounds.

End of Wage Ceiling Pledged By McGovern

Democratic Nominee Declares Objective Of Free Market

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, claiming greater confidence than ever that he can beat President Nixon, has pledged to end wage-price controls within 90 days after taking office.

With little advance fanfare, the Democratic nominee declared he would order a return to a free market upon ending the Vietnam war and reducing military spending.

In comments to a group of Illinois labor leaders Tuesday night, McGovern said: "When the war is ended and waste is stopped, we can end wage and price controls, and I think that can be done within 90 days of the inauguration. And I'm committed to that goal."

Wages of most Americans have been frozen or regulated since last Aug. 15 when Nixon imposed controls in an effort to curb inflation.

McGovern's economic pledge capped a day of campaigning Tuesday in Ohio and Illinois in which he repeatedly asserted that Nixon himself was at least indirectly involved in an attempt to spy on Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington.

Farm Vote
McGovern planned to court the farm vote today after reaping a new round of labor endorsements Tuesday.

As he addressed a cheering group of United Auto Workers near General Motors' Lordstown, Ohio, plant, the 44-million-member union announced it had voted overwhelmingly to endorse the South Dakotan.

At the same time, the International Ladies Garment Workers, with 450,000 members, tendered its support by way of a unanimous executive-board decision.

Just a day earlier, some 25 other unions had announced formation of a coalition labor committee to back McGovern.

On the minus side, the 339,000-member Indiana AFL-CIO declared it would follow the lead of national federation President George Meany and remain neutral.

And McGovern's much-awaited meeting with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, whom McGovern forces helped oust from the Democratic National Convention last month, was called off for another week. The senator said Daley had called him at Lordstown to ask a postponement for "urgent personal reasons."

Withheld Details
O'Brien, now McGovern's national campaign chairman, said his lawyer advised against disclosing details of the new evidence prior to a court hearing.

The suit originally complained of an alleged bugging attempt, but O'Brien said the complaint will be amended to state that the premises of the Democratic National Committee were in fact bugged for a period of time.

He said Williams will take depositions this month from these others: Huzar Sloan Jr., former treasurer of the Nixon campaign; G. Gordon Liddy, former Nixon finance counsel; Douglas Caddy, the first attorney for the men charged in the case; E. Howard Hunt Jr., former White House consultant; Charles W. Colson, special counsel to the President; and Alfred Wong, chief of Secret Service technical services at the White House.

Terrorists Break Into Argentine Prison, Free Guerrillas, Take Plane

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — The Argentine airliner landed safely in Santiago, Chile, after a fight early today in the building and reinforcements were arriving.

The interior minister said all the escapees on the hijacked plane were leaders of the Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army, or ERP. Among them was the group's principal leader, Mario Santucho.

Plan Kidnaping
Sanctuary was transferred to Rawson from Villa Devoto Prison in Buenos Aires after police suspected him of planning the kidnaping of Italian industrialist Oberdan Sallustro. Sallustro, general manager of Fiat-Concord, was kidnapped March 2 by ERP commandos and was killed April 10 when police discovered a hideout where he had been held captive.

Started Firing
The prison chaplain told about an hour before the Argentine Air Line's plane was due to there was no shooting until the guerrillas and their selected escapees approached the terminal and entrance and began firing at the control tower and then waited as the escapees and their guerrilla escorts raced for the airport.

When the BAC11 jet with 99 passengers and a crew of six taxied to a halt, terrorists brandishing machine guns, grenades and pistols forced their way aboard.

Dehyphenation . . .

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Edward MacNeal, Wayne, Pa., head of a management consulting firm specializing in transportation matters, testified today as a Green Bay-Brown County witness. He said the letters sent by the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce seeking businessmen's comments on dehyphenation issues were vague, biased and difficult for layman in air transportation matters to answer.

He testified that the type of questions asked and the manner the complainant could cause a survey to be biased.

Moran added that the additional time and cost of the surface journey to Appleton wasn't an inconvenience.

Appleton Benefitted

Under cross-examination by Argerakis and Moran, Moran testified that the Appleton area had benefitted from the improved air service that North Central was providing, including the Oshkosh airport.

He said Appleton was considered in the same market area as Oshkosh, as indicated by the Appleton-Oshkosh Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area designation of 13 municipalities, and an increasing assessed value Argerakis contended Appleton had to conform to recent sale of a market such as Appleton.

Property that has not been improved or improved has the local airport and the last three years should have been valued at the same assessed value. Moran stated that advocates of reassessment, by his statement that North Central was providing adequate service from the Oshkosh airport, increased the valuation of land in many parts of the city. But the increases don't relate to the buildings on the same land in many cases.

Gergen pointed out to the board that in Bonner's case there was no evidence presented to show that the rest of his Central, are subsidized by the federal government to serve low-passenger areas to assure air service to these areas.

Moran reiterated that North Central needs the Oshkosh-Appleton arrangement for successful marketing and said it preferred the hyphen arrangement, even to arranging a contract for passengers on North Central, bringing them closer to their destination.

Argerakis questioned what North Central's position would be on an arrangement whereby North Central would suspend hyphenated service to Appleton, with the stipulation that North Central would begin serving the area, if Air Wisconsin stopped.

Frank Costello, North Central legal counsel, said North Central had no position at this time.

Libertarian Party's Goal . . .

Millard and his wife, Janet, have been living in the Fox Valley for a year and a half. He is a native of Colorado Springs and entered Southern Colorado State College at age 18.

He said the initial group of libertarians, mostly young business and professional people, were fed up with the public school system and felt that their careers were hampered by bureaucratic red tape. "The productivity of our brightest people is hampered by government regulation," he said. His chief discontent was that his age hurt his chances of finding jobs.

When asked to pick a historical period that would satisfy libertarians for its pure capitalism, he chose the United States before 1921. When asked to choose a place that now meets Ayn Rand's criteria, he picked "The Land of Minerva," a community built by a group of New Yorkers on a Pacific coral reef last year. Millard characterized the island community as "kooks," but he said a philosophical movement has to expect that it will attract all sorts of people.

He maintained that even the modern international corporation — unknown to Adam Smith — would be accountable to forces of free market competition, if left alone. He also maintained that a future dominated by private business — even business monopolies — would result in less public poverty. "There are no historical precedents for such position."

The national Libertarian Party will have presidential and vice presidential candidates on the ballots of New York, Colorado, Texas, California and other states this fall. They are John Hospers, director of the University of Southern California's school of philosophy, and Tonia Nathan, a free-lance reporter from Eugene, Ore.

The party candidates will not run in Wisconsin. Millard said. He is concerned now with building up a membership. "I'm pretty much a one-man show right now," he said, but he expects that 150 Wisconsin subscribers to the Ayn Rand newsletter would be interested in joining.

Millard works for the Thimble Pulp and Paper Co., and is a part-time student at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. He said his ambitions are in business, not politics.

Heckert did note, however, that as he had passed the library he had noticed that many shelves were empty and he acknowledged that there may be a factor unknown to him which could make a difference in the out request.

A member of the administration explained that there was, in fact, such a factor. The library, he said, was in poor shape before the move to the new facility.

"Since we hope for accreditation next year, we have to build up the library, which is one of the requirements. So far we have only 10,000 volumes and small shelves."

change drastically since the teachers' association and the board still are negotiating over last year's contract and still have not considered next year's contract.

It also was pointed out that the teacher-student ratio is 1:18, which the taxpayers group seemed to feel was quite small.

In answer to this, Stanley Spanbauer, head of the instructional services division, explained that the ratio has not only been increased in the past few years, it is considerably above the 1:14 found at the University of Wisconsin campuses.

Besides, he argued, six new programs were added, which means the enrollment has to be built up in some of these. And a number of them were in the health fields, with the state board of nursing allowing only 12 students per teacher.

Overtime, instructional travel, professional growth and instructional supplies and equipment repairs will come in the fall.

ries developed, and tennis courts installed, $500 for equipment for the John Street park also is provided.

The federal grant represents one-half of the total cost of the program this year, the village being responsible for matching the federal grant.

In 1973 plans call for development of the other half of the Third Street area including planting of trees and shrubbery, sidewalks, completion of the decorative lighting project, installation of fencing along railroad tracks at the south end of the property and construction of the requirements. So far we have only 10,000 volumes and small shelves."

Ex-Mayor Wagner Picked to Help Salvage New York for McGovern

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

NEW YORK — Sen. George McGovern's decision, after weeks of temporizing, to pluck Robert F. Wagner from the obscurity of an ex-mayor to run his make-or-break New York state presidential campaign was a desperate compromise move to prevent the already dangerous split between party regulars and McGovernites from sinking the campaign before it had been launched.

Wagner, a Manhattan lawyer with political connections to both regular and reform Democratic politicians, has the blessing of acceptability from feuding occupants of the political snakepit that is the New York state Democratic Party.

More important, he can be trusted to play a low-key campaign chairman's role unlikely to upset the delicate and hostile balance of power between powerful county chairmen, such as Pat Cunningham of the Bronx and Meade Esposito of Brooklyn, and the youthful, activist cadres who conquered New York in the June presidential primary election for George McGovern.

The unique fitness of Wagner, who has never been accused of political dynamism to play the political-neutral role of campaign candidate, putting him in charge of McGovern's presidential campaign would be acutely embarrassing to every party leader and every other potential Democratic candidate for governor.

But Crangle's reservations, entirely understandable, were nothing as compared to the outraged objections of some of McGovern's own New York operatives.

3-Hour Session

Thus, in a private three-hour evening session in Hart's Washington office on Aug. 3, Joseph Grandmaison, architect of McGovern's strong New Hampshire primary race last March and already working the New York scene as "coordinator" of McGovern's campaign here, raised the sharpest objections to Samuel's campaign blueprint.

The New York campaign, he argued, should be decentralized along the lines of McGovern's New York primary campaign. The Samuel blueprint, in sharp contrast, called for tight centralization under one-man control with one major objective: Winning back the disaffected working middle class of Catholics and Jews.

speech just before the primary. Whether Wagner, who enters in addition, Edward Rogoff, a 20-year-old activist in the largely ignorant of these fratricidal struggles, can now take command with real authority is doubtful. From Livestock to Cash, California Freeway Littered

Wednesday, August 16, 1972

The Post-Crescent ■ 12

By FRANK HOTCHKISS

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Money, false teeth, bathtubs, wigs and even the kitchen sink—you can find them all on the Los Angeles freeway.

Take money. An armored truck once dumped 8,000 bucks, dimes and quarters on the Ventura Freeway.

Or livestock. Practically every highway patrolman has ridden herd on stray cattle or horses in the freeway traffic and in 1968 an accident involving a truck hauling live chickens and a cattle truck transformed the San Bernardino Freeway into a barnyard.

Wigs occasionally blow off motorists' heads onto the roads and clothing, puffy banks, furniture, boats, beer, sponges and virtually everything else that's ever been carried in or on a vehicle has wound up amid the traffic.

Gather Money

It took men from the California Highway Patrol and the state Division of Highways two hours to gather the money in the 1968 Ventura coin spill, dodging traffic with pockets bulging, picking up coins one by one.

The recovery of $800 in checks and money orders on the San Diego Freeway this year took considerably longer. It wasn't really the money that mattered, but two sound tapes, without which a segment of the CBS TV series, "Gunsmoke," would have been lost. A 30-hour search ended when maintenance men found the tapes, worth $30,000. Each of the finders got a $500 check.

The chicken-cattle truck crash on the Santa Ana Freeway was too much for officers alone. Passing motorists joined in, waving arms and flapping coats to herd big Brahma bulls and frightened chickens back to their pens and cages.

A horse intended for a food cannery charged down the Golden State Freeway several years ago. Police finally corralled him after he almost knocked several motorcycle officers off their machines.

Highway patrolmen have developed special techniques to handle obstructions on the freeway. They call for a "break in traffic" when fast legs and a quick hand will not suffice.

A second unit, upstream, flashes its lights and begins weaving back and forth across the freeway to slow motorists.

The pickup man waits for the Once maintenance men were boat trailer behind. The officer they are auctioned off in Sacramento.

San Diego and Harbor Freeways. An investigation confirmed the 34-foot yacht "Columbia" heeled to port close by up the slope rested a hydroplane motorboat. Not tied down, the craft had flown up the grade at 50 miles per hour.

Runaway boats are uncommon but not unheard of. One highway patrol officer found a despondent driver sitting on the curb of an expressway near Baldwin Hills. The man's car claimed immediately, but those had a dented fender, a flat tire, and a jack-knifed but empty gerous — version of rock drop-

Dangerous Aspects

There are dangerous aspects to freeway litter beyond the traffic hazard element. Some litter is dropped intentionally and maliciously.

Endless Variety

A fad of bombarding passing motorists was terrified by an in-motorist's deaths and could send him swerving for the next several hundred yards. The new fences have successfully discouraged this game ago. In the middle of fast-flowing traffic was a kitchen sink.

City May Work With Calumet Housing Board

Similar Agreement
Already Made With
Outagamie County

A cooperation agreement between Appleton and the Calumet County Housing Authority won endorsement Monday from a City Council committee and went to the council for action.

If the council also approves, it would involve the city in its third housing authority. The city has its own authority, which, it has been ruled, is restricted to operating the Oneida Heights apartments for the elderly. The city currently is working with the Outagamie County Housing Authority to investigate the need for low-cost housing for the elderly and low income families.

City Atty. David Geenen said he saw no reason why the city shouldn't also cooperate with Calumet County, to cover housing needs in the parts of the city located within Calumet. All of the 9th Ward and a portion of the 13th lie in that county.

Geenen said he believes there is a "spillover provision" allowing the Outagamie County Housing Authority to provide housing in an area outside its boundaries if it is part of an Outagamie County city.

But he added there may be advantages in going after federal housing funds through every avenue available, and the committee agreed.

In another action, the committee recommended moving the 16th Ward polling place from its former location at Jackson School to Riverside Junior High School.

City Clerk Eben Brinker advised that Jackson School is being used for civic purposes having been vacated at the end of the last school year as a public school.

Kids Sit for Grandma

Rock Is for Pushing is the title of this sculpture in clay being worked by the nimble fingers of Martie Strubel of Barrington, Illinois. Her naive subject is one of her grandchildren.

So great are her likeness of the child, one grandson ran directly up to his figure and kissed it. A collection of Mrs. Strubel's creations have been marketed by Haeger Potteries, Inc.

Self-Image of Gawky Years Can Stay for Life

BY DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer

rapid physical growth during adolescence is so stressful that many people carry the images of themselves as gawky young teenagers for the rest of their lives, says a new book on the subject.

You scratch someone under the skin and there is an adolescent beneath the adult. People get fixed on the most painful period of life," says Dr. Martin J. Gersh, author of "The Handbook of Adolescence."

The doctors said that often a beautiful woman who suffered from acne as an adolescent will always think of herself as ugly or a man who did not grow in height until late in his teens would never think of himself as a tall person.

Doctor's Definition
Adolescence, by the doctors' definition, is the period when the body begins rapid growth and acquires such secondary sexual characteristics as enlarged voice or facial hair for boys, breasts and widened hips for girls. It usually starts at about age 10 for girls, age 12 for boys.

The authors said that the stressful period is compounded by the fact that many parents don't realize that normal does not necessarily mean average. Adolescence can begin as late as age 18.

"What we find is many kids are dragged to doctors because their parents think they should be growing," said Dr. Li.

The doctors said they found in their own practice at Monte Fiori Hospital in the Bronx and in researching statistics from clinics throughout the United States that 95 per cent of the young people brought in for being too short are suffering only from delayed adolescence.

Dr. Gersh cited one case where the mother brought in her 14-year-old son, concerned that he was only 5 feet tall. Assured that the child would grow normally and that only trouble was psychological, the mother replied dryly:

"I have asked him a thousand times, 'Sporty, are you so sensitive?'"

Another fact not widely known, the doctors said, is that about 50 per cent of boys develop breast tissue for about a year in late adolescence. In nearly all cases, the tissue disappears but some young men, not knowing this is normal, may worry about their masculinity all their life.

For many people, failure to develop an accurate self-image may mean they will only lack a complete self-confidence, but others may suffer from anxiety and depression.

Almost All Neurotics
"And almost all neurotic people will have some distortion of body image," said Gersh.

The authors do not rule out the possibility that a bad physical image could be a realistic view and they do include a chapter in the book about plastic surgery. In fact, some plastic surgery may be most advantageous during this period because it is the time when the self-image is still being developed, they said.

There are some cases where psychological concerns might be so serious that some characteristics of adolescent growth can be stimulated by injections of synthetic male hormone. They recommend this only for serious cases, however.

Schroeders Celebrate 55th Anniversary

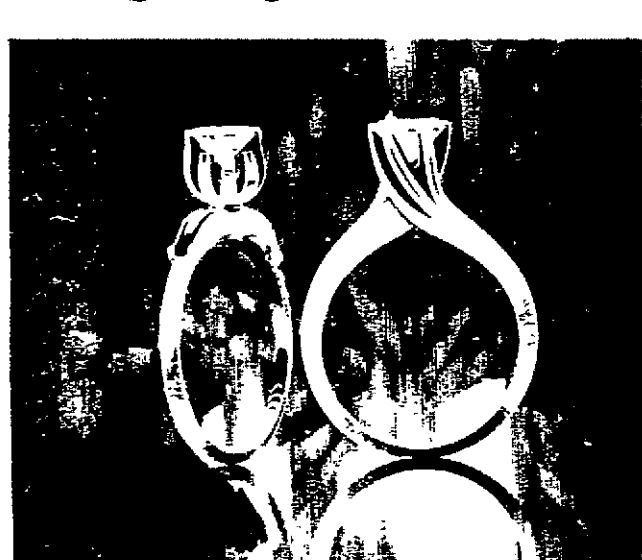

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Schroeder celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary with a 10:30 a.m. service at St. Luke Church, Chilton.

The couple was married August 15, 1917 at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Rantoul.

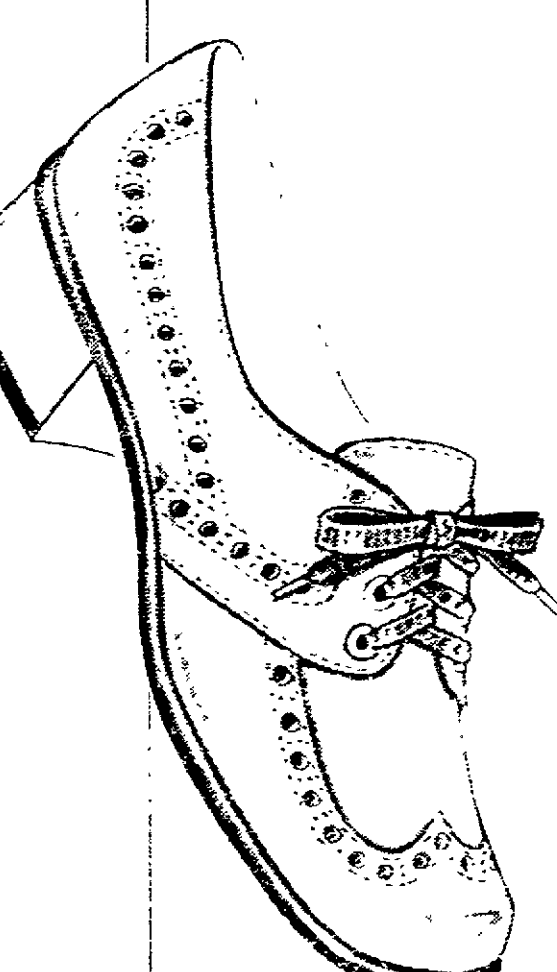

They have six children, 27 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The couple was honored at a dinner and reception at St. Luke's hall, Porter.

Is Your Teenager Bored This Summer?

What recreation facilities for teen-agers exist in your community? How many places are there where your young son or daughter can meet others in surroundings that encourage play, sociability, sport, exercise, or interests? It's very easy to blame young people for using drugs or for misbehaving. But what are you doing to provide outlets for their energies?

We are not giving our young people much choice. I am aware of the few groups and organizations that have socials, Sunday get-togethers, and an occasional dance. The "Country Club" serves those who can afford it. But it is really not for teen-agers. It's a baby-sitting service for the convenience of adult members. Young people resent this. During the long hot summer months, most communities don't offer young people a place they can call their own.

I wouldn't want to be a teen-ager today. They are too "old" for most day camps, too young to work or travel far, shut in in the cities, abandoned in the suburbs, or isolated in the country. Young people between the ages of ten and sixteen usually have no place to go, nothing to do, and no one to look out for them. There is no one around to stimulate their activities, or direct their attention. Few adults make themselves available or help teen-agers get involved. They are usually permitted only to consume, to sit, and to wait until the age when they will be "free."

Most Bored Stiff

How would you like to be such a teen-ager? I know a few families and communities where this problem is met, at least in part. They are the exception. Most of the teen-agers I know are bored stiff and bored. I don't blame them. When both mother and father are away at work during the day, teen-agers are abandoned. Those who have exceptionally strong drives manage to live down this damaging environment and seldom.

It is not surprising that many drift helplessly and hopelessly into unnecessary trouble. The rest tune out and become apathetic. This latter is probably the largest group of young people in the United States today.

What can you do about it? Get teen-agers, neighbors, friends, school, church and fraternal groups together. Organize a recreational center for teen-agers that they can use. Let each parent in turn do something with and for all the young people in your community. Take them on outings to the country; to museums and other places of interest. Get different groups going on projects — creative, social, environmental, or social work in the community. There is no end of things that young people can and want to do. It only takes interested adults to help spark their commitment, and to provide the facilities.

Student work, study, travel and scholarship programs — Does your teen- or college-age son or daughter want to work, travel or study in the U. S. or abroad this summer or next? Would you like to help him or her get the right information or a scholarship? Arnold Arnold has prepared a booklet especially for readers of this column. It lists the best and most reliable books, and private and government sources of information in the U. S.

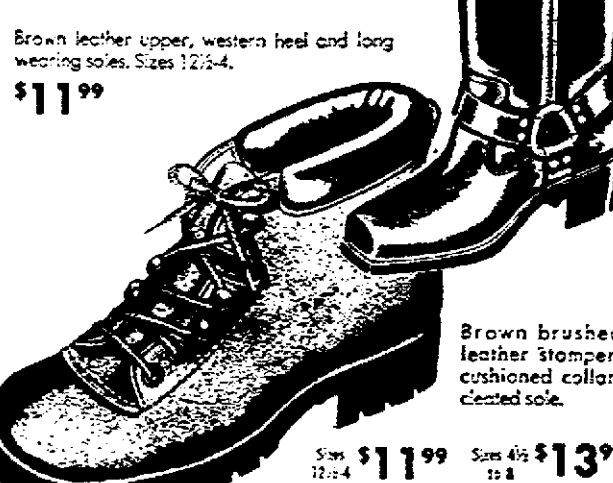

and abroad. Send 20 cents and a large (No. 10), stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arnold Arnold, Dept. C, c-o this newspaper.

Bathroom Concepts for '70s

Would You Believe a Bathroom? This imaginative bathroom projects right into the 70s. The compartmented design features an exercise room to the right, a spacious relaxation and sunning area, sunken tub and modernistic wall treatments. Prefinished Marine paneling in a new Caribbean blue antique pattern in the main area runs right up the ceiling, tying in with the natural feeling created by the skylights and sliding glass doors. This same paneling, but in a solid dawn blue, provides an interesting contrast on doors and built-ins.

Women in GOP Spotlight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — The spotlight will be on "Women of Achievement" from 10 a.m. until noon Tuesday in the Grand Ballroom of the Poinciana Hotel as Republican National Committee co-chairman Anne Armstrong heads up a brunch in honor of Mrs. Richard Nixon.

The Ailing House

Stains In Tub Vanish

Q: How can I remove blue stains around the drain of the bathtub? — Portsmouth, Va.

A: Mix up a medium-stiff paste of scratchless scouring powder (like Bon Ami), ordinary hydrogen peroxide and a pinch of cream of tartar. Rub this on the stain for a few minutes, using a cloth. Use nothing rough which could scratch the surface. Leave the paste for half an hour. Rinse. If the stain is still there, repeat. If the stain is really deep, dark, blue-green and has been there for years, I doubt that any number of attempts will get it completely out.

Q: We have a summer cottage on the water, where we fight iron in the water with a filter, and mildew with persistence. However, our shower stall has us stopped. The grout between tiles stays dark, no matter what type cleaners we use. Can you suggest anything for this? — Baltimore.

A: Try full-strength bleach. Keep a sponge and pail or water handy, in case of too much dripping, and occasionally pour some down the drain if any considerable amount of bleach gets in. You can rub the grout surface with the tip of your finger and carefully paint with white marine enamel, using a very small artist's brush.

Q: My roofless, rarely used, woodshed path has been damaged by exposure to weather. I was given a large amount of flooring canvas, which I would like to put down to protect. My question: How do I waterproof the canvas? How do I stick it to the floor? — Westminster, Md.

A: To waterproof, paint with two or three thin coats of top quality floor and deck enamel. To stick it to the floor, use ordinary black plastic roofing cement. Be sure to get a good seal, use a heavy roller.

Q: My son is having trouble with his first house, and I believe the builder is doing him a runaway. There is a downspout at each end of the front of the house. Yet when there is a heavy rain, the water works into the basement a day or so later. Personally, I think there should be another downspout from the gutter. What do you think? — Wilmette, Ill.

A: Personally, I think a downspout at each side is all right. But it's where the water goes that matters. Does a drain tile or other take the downspout water away from the house to a dry well or perhaps the municipal storm sewer system? If allowed just to sit on the ground where it lands, the water will work down and form a high-pressure pool underground outside the foundation. This can result in heavy seepage. Waterproofing will help a lot.

EMBARRASS — Mr. and Mrs. Grover Gehrt observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Embarrass Park.

Therapy Brings Miraculous Recovery

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter from a woman who was considering marriage to a man who had suffered a stroke and was partially paralyzed. She expressed concern about his ability to function sexually. I hope she sees this letter because I speak from experience.

Four years ago when my husband was stricken I was sure our sex life was over. Our physician suggested therapy at the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago. At the time it seemed hopeless but we went anyway. Within months he showed remarkable progress and now I can tell you that his recovery has been miraculous. Today he is a completely satisfying lover.

Please encourage that woman to marry and if she is lucky enough to live in or near Chicago, to take him to that wonderful hospital. — Ben There

Dear Ben: I do so with pleasure. The Rehabilitation Institute is one of the finest in the world. The director, Dr. Henry Betts, is a good friend of mine. Your letter provides me with the opportunity to say a good word for an institution that richly deserves it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You told "Getting It All Together" that when a love affair is over the best way to recover is to put away the pictures, letters and mementos, move forward and not look back. I lost someone I loved very much and I can't get over it. He died. And he was just 18. The only comfort I have is looking at his picture, re-reading his letters and poetry, playing our favorite records and reliving, in my memory, the wonderful times we had together. These things help me feel closer to him.

It's been only a month but I wonder if it will ever be any different. People have assured me that time will ease the pain and that one day I'll be happy again. But how does one get through the present? Broken love affairs are often repaired. People get back together again. But in my case it will never happen. He is lost to me forever. The finality of it all has crushed my spirit. Please give me some words of wisdom. I am — Empty, Empty, Empty.

Dear Friend: When a love affair is over, the prescription is the same, whether the separation was caused by a misunderstanding, mutual agreement, or death. Look ahead, make a new life — and accept the realities.

A month is not very long. The wounds are still fresh, but you will not help them heal by keeping them open and dwelling on the pain. Consider your dream castle a delightful place to visit, but don't try to live in it. Life is for the living.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was rummaging through some old clippings and found the enclosed, which I think contains some useful advice. If you agree, will you find room for it in your column? It appeared in the Montello, Wis., Tribune, and was distributed to every pupil in Watertown, S.D. Thanks, Ann. — Daily Reader

"I can make some suggestions. Go home."

"Remove the storm windows. Paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves. Mow the lawn. Learn to cook. Scrub the floors. Build something. Clean up a park. Read to a blind person. Tutor a handicapped child."

"Offer your services to your pastor, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you're through, if you aren't too tired — read a good book."

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. The world does not owe you a living. Your village does not owe you recreation facilities. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy, and your talents, so that no one will be at war or in poverty, or sick or lonely, ever again."

"In plain words: Grow up; quit being a cry baby; get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone. Start acting like a man or a woman."

"I'm a parent. I'm tired of nursing, chauffeuring, protecting, pleading and begging, making excuses for your laziness and trying to accommodate to your endless demands. I am also tired of being told 'It's your fault I'm like this. You spoiled me.' If you don't like yourself, be something better." — Mrs. Omaha

Dear Mrs. Omaha: I agree — that essay makes sense. I thought so several years ago when it first appeared in my column. P.S. Please say hello to my friends in Watertown. I visited there a few years ago and loved it. Their newspaper is one of the best.

Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Take Home A BAKED TREAT Today

Brunch Satisfies Appetites

BY JEAN PEERENBOOM
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What is the perfect way to start a Sunday morning? Or the best thing to come home to after church services or an early morning golf game? A beautifully set table with plenty of delectable foods capable of satisfying any appetite.

Sunday brunch is gaining in popularity around the country as more and more Americans find weekends a time to relax. Breakfasts have come to be turned meals, eaten for the "sole purpose of filling an empty stomach" and often skipped.

A brunch is a relaxed meal with a varied menu and offers an occasional remedy to the modern dilemma of poor eating habits. Editor Jeanne McCloy in her recently published book "McCall's Beautiful Brunch Book" offers recipes and ideas for brunches, indoor or outdoor, formal or informal. In addition to recipes she includes tips to keep in mind when buying foods.

In the chapter on eggs she points out that "in a grade AA egg the white will be more yellow and the yolk flatter, firmer, and more centered than that of the Grade B or C egg. Grade B and C eggs are quite acceptable, however, for preparing any dish that does not require a perfect fried or poached egg."

Crabcakes to Corn

Miss McCloy carries her readers from beverages to fruit to eggs to seafood to meat and poultry to vegetables to bread and butters, including such recipes as grilled bananas and Canadian bacon, shepherd's pie, crab-cakes, and souffled corn. There are recipes on scrambled eggs, banana bread, baked trout and bacon, waffles, omelets and pancakes.

The book is rounded out by a chapter on brunch menus. Miss McCloy offers suggestions for putting her recipes all together for any occasion or setting.

This book is suitable to the tastes of anyone who enjoys experimenting in the kitchen. Just reading through the recipes is enough to make your mouth water.

McCall's Beautiful Brunch Book" edited by Jeanne McCloy, Saturday Review Press, 230 Park Ave., New York, N. Y. 10017, $5.95.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

World Champions by IRA G. CORN JR.

The Fourth World Bridge Olympiad is now history. In many respects it was the most successful of them all. Certainly, it was the largest, with 39 teams from different countries competing in the Open Series and 18 teams in the Ladies' Series.

Italy emerged the clear winner by capturing both events. The United States, represented by The Aces in the Open Series, finished second, and Canada and France completed the top four in that order. In the Ladies' Series, the top three were Italy, South Africa and the United States.

The 88-deal final between Italy and the United States (Open Series) was a thriller. Italy had built an early lead to 60 international match points (IMPs) after the first 48 deals. In the next 16 deals The Aces fought back gamely to outscore Italy 56-24 to reduce the margin to 28 IMPs with 24 hands to play the next afternoon. After an uneventful start, disaster struck The Aces and the Italians, a team that needs few breaks, was spurred on to a typically stellar last-quarter performance.

This was the deal:

ture. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough flour mixture to make a soft dough. If necessary, add additional white flour to obtain desired consistency. Turn dough out onto lightly floured board, knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover, let rise in warm place free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Divide in half, form each piece into a smooth ball. Flatten each ball into a mound 6 inches in diameter. Sprinkle bottoms of 2 greased 8-inch round cake pans with cornmeal. Place dough in pans. Combine egg, water and 2 tablespoons white, brush dough. Let rise uncovered in warm place free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Bake in 400-degree oven about 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking pans and cool on wire racks. Recipe makes two loaves.

Food Additive Merits Questioned in Digest

BY ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — A new book published recently seeks to fill a frequently expressed need for a readable encyclopedia of food chemicals.

It is called "Eater's Digest" and is written by Michael F. Jacobson, a former aide to Ralph Nader who is now co-director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, a non-profit study group in Washington.

There have been increasing demands in recent years for such information so that people concerned about allergies or food safety can find the answers they are looking for.

Jacobson, an M.I.T. graduate with a doctorate in microbiology, makes a determined effort to avoid the pitfalls of what he calls "Poison in the Pantry," books which seem designed to scare people.

He acknowledges that many chemicals serve a useful purpose without adding any significant risks. And he agrees that many people are glad to pay the extra cost and undergo the extra risk of some modern convenience foods.

His main concern is with the list of chemicals "generally recognized as safe" by the Food and Drug Administration. The lack of proof that many are safe in the quantities consumed by humans over a lifetime. He lists in response to critics who contend that most additives question the safety of some are used merely to enhance the items on it.

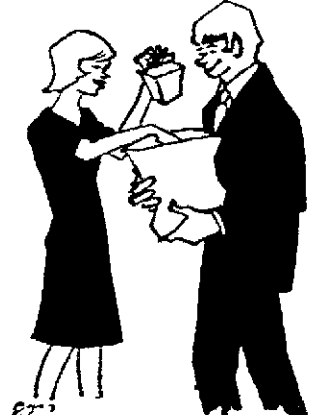

Profits of food manufacturers. Jacobson raises doubts about the safety and usefulness of many chemicals. He also practices what he preaches. He says additives are usually used "for the purpose of greater efficiency in processing, storage, complaints with the government distribution and marketing of food items."

The main part of the book consists of an alphabetical listing of 108 additives, with a description of each one and a discussion of its main problems and advantages. In addition there is a summary of food standards for 14 and cupcake, he says, many product categories, including poultry and meat products not necessarily wholesome. He says such products are "little more than vitamin-coated" and are not required to avoid many chemicals in the normal diet, what does Jacobson recommend for the careful consumer to eat? His own rule have been banned and a partial of thumb' adds little to what

Base your diet on fresh or frozen meat, poultry and produce, low-fat dairy products and whole grains, with variety to obtain balance. He would also avoid artificial colors and antioxidants such as BHA, but that is easier said than done. Publisher of the book is Doubleday & Co. Inc. The price is $5.95.

Navy Wives Uneasy at Idea Of Women With Men at Sea

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — aboard the carrier Independence. Many old Navy salts would prefer a girl in every port to one behind every porthole.

"It's unreal," moaned Chief Petty Officer 2nd Class John F. Kennedy, who pointed a finger in his face and laughed. "Now, in six months, you know you're going to find a way."

"I don't see how it will work," said Janey McHugh, whose husband is about to be assigned as an officer aboard the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy. "It's no place for a woman."

Like many wives, she questioned whether the Navy's new policy is an officer's duty or a woman's. She said she would not go to sea with her husband, but she would support him if he did.

WAVE officers and enlisted women are physically and mentally able to withstand the hardships of extended sea duty. "It's no place for a woman," claimed Mary Mountford. "If they want that they ought to set them out on the battlefield."

"I think the woman's place is in the home with the children," added the mother of four whose husband is attached to a port services unit at the Naval Station.

"You put men and women on a ship together for six months and you're going to have trouble," said Frances Doyle, whose husband is a steward, and added: "Now I don't know about seasickness. Women are kind of delicate, you know."

Jealous Wives

Barbara Aicheley of Virginia Beach professed support for the concept, but suggested "there are probably going to be a lot of jealous wives when the ship pulls out."

The prospects of friction among the crew members seemed to bother most chiefs. "Will they have morale problems?" predicted Chief Radioman Larry Fanagan.

"You've got problems, that's all you've got problems," said Chief Plank, who is stationed aboard the landing platform dock ship Coronado. He questioned how many ships could be converted to handle women with their already limited berthing spaces.

Some chiefs expressed regret that the change was coming, but especially that it was coming before they would have a chance to go down to sea with sailors in slips.

"I'm going to be retired the first of September," said Chief Roy O'Quinn of Norfolk. "This should have been done 25 years ago."

Chief Wesley Chronister, a submariner, shared O'Quinn's sentiments. "They had to do it after all my sea duty was over," he grouched.

State Bar to Review No Fault Insurance

MADISON — Wisconsin's ending the issue in Washington for this year.

Curran cautioned that the claims of "no fault" advocates that lower insurance costs will result from such a system cannot be demonstrated for Wisconsin.

"Wisconsin is not a highly urbanized state, has a low accident rate, a modern court system, and its comparative negligence law has for many years been recognized as a model act," he wrote in a bar publication addressed to the 6,000 practitioners of Wisconsin.

A national no fault act would bring higher insurance rates for Wisconsin drivers because of the higher incidence of risks in the country as a whole, he asserted.

The study committee named by a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling in an earlier case involving the J.C. Penny Co. The Grant coupon plan differed from Penny's revolving credit plan, he said, but the results of the two were somewhat similar.

Grant Credit Plan Illegal, Court Rules

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A credit plan which is used by W.T. Grant Co. stores violates Wisconsin's usury law, Dane County Circuit Judge W.L. Jackman ruled Monday.

Jackman's ruling came in a suit filed by the attorney general's office against the "Grant-a-charge credit coupon" plan which it alleged amounted to a charge of 17 to 20 per cent interest.

State law now prohibits businesses from charging more than 12 per cent interest annually. In 1973, the usury law will be changed to allow 18 per cent interest on installment contracts up to $500.

Jackman said he was bound by a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling in an earlier case involving the J.C. Penny Co. The Grant coupon plan differed from Penny's revolving credit plan, he said, but the results of the two were somewhat similar.

"We do not believe," exceptions should be used to cover for schemes devised by large merchants to avoid the claim of usury while charging usurious rates for credit," the judge said.

When school begins this fall, minutes to two hours. This fall the following courses for vocational education will be offered at local outlets: teachers and public school teachers. — "Workshop in Curriculum Development and Instruction," a three-credit course for vocational education, orientation program on career current federal and state legislation for high school teachers and local programs and classes and counselors. Classes develop and trends in curriculum, August 23 through curriculum in vocational-technical education. Classes will meet from 4:30 to 6 p.m. on Mondays.

Operated by the University of Wisconsin-Extension, ETN is a method in which a lecture or discussion held at one location is heard through telephone hookups at various locations in the state. A student in the Fox Valley, for example, is able to ask a question or join the discussion by merely picking up the receiver at his ETN site and speaking into the telephone. His voice is heard by the instructor, as well as students at all the other listening stations.

ETN has grown rapidly since it began in 1965. It was started on an experimental basis to provide a continuing education service to physicians in Wisconsin. It included only one program and 13 listening stations that first year, but when it proved popular with doctors, expansion of the system began.

Today ETN includes more than 120 listening locations. Local outlets are located in the Calumet, Okauchee, and Winnebago county courthouses, the Menasha and Oshkosh public libraries, and the University of Wisconsin Center-Fox Valley in Menasha.

Course offerings have also been expanded from the single original class to more than 20 courses each semester. Programs are offered such areas as social work, engineering, law, nursing, library science, women's and family living, education, language arts, the environment and journalism.

The number of participants has also grown — from a few hundred that first year to over 20,000 last year. It costs Extension approximately 14 cents an hour per student to rent the telephone lines and provide the necessary equipment. The system also saves both the student and the instructor travel time.

he says. No student has to travel outside his own county to attend a class and professors don't have to travel long distances to speak to classes of 20-30 at each location. Instead they can speak to several hundred students from one location.

While most ETN courses are designed to provide a continuing education experience, others are designed for undergraduate and graduate credit. The program format is usually one of panel discussions or lectures followed by questions and answer sessions. Programs vary from 30

Classes will meet from 10 to 11:30 a.m., Thursdays, November 9 through May 10, 1973.

Registration forms for any of these courses may be obtained from the county continuing education agent, Gene Gibas, at the University of Wisconsin Center-Fox Valley, Midway Road, Menasha, Wisconsin 54952; or phone 734-8731, ext. 71.

Courts

An 18-year-old man charged with possession of stolen property Monday waived the right to a trial in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer then set a trial date of Oct. 18 for Ricky M. Wachowiak, 2500 S. Jefferson St.

Wachowiak previously pleaded not guilty to possession of 10 quarts of brandy, which were reportedly stolen from a downtown bar about 10:30 p.m. July 11, when he appeared before Judge Urban P. Van Susteren, July 14 in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

A 20-year-old Tigerton woman has charged with two counts of cashing worthless checks, while she and her husband were charged with four other counts of cashing worthless checks when they appeared Monday before Judge Nick F. Schaefer charged with the March 8 in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Vianna Roskom was charged with cashing worthless checks of $25 March 18 at the Fairlane Store, 2641 N. Oneida St., Appleton, and $50 March 5 at Doerning's Super Valu, 401 Lawe St., Kaukauna.

She and her husband, Michael A. Roskom, 23, were charged with cashing three worthless checks of $50 each March 5 at two Super Valu stores, and another $50 check March 1 at the Kimberly Pharmacy, 110 E. hour per student to rent the telephone lines and provide the necessary equipment. The system also saves both the student and the instructor travel time.

Both cases were continued to Wednesday. Bail for Mrs. Roskom was set at $500, with bail set at $300 for her husband.

John E. Seager, 21, 713 S. Whitman St., Appleton, was charged Monday with disorderly conduct relating to an incident last Friday at the corner of Mason and Spencer streets.

Seager appeared before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, where he was charged with two counts of disorderly conduct. The case was continued for two days.

Seager was arrested by Appleton police after police Town of Oneida.

charge, he grabbed a girl who was walking down the street.

Richard Geborek, 25, 2010 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, was bound over for trial following a preliminary examination Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer continued the case to Wednesday, at which time he is expected to set a trial date.

Geborek is charged with driving a vehicle without the owner's consent, relating to an Aug. 5 incident, in which he reportedly stole a van truck of Carlton Schmitt from his business, Bargain Center, 1830 E. Main St., Little Chute.

Geborek was apprehended in Kaukauna following a chase.

A trial date of Sept. 22 was set Monday for one of two men charged with the March 8 armed robbery of an Appleton service station.

Jerry Haugner, 19, 218 E. Marquette St., entered a plea of not guilty to the charges before Circuit Court Judge Gordon Myse.

Haugner previously appeared for a July 21 preliminary hearing before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Haugner and a companion are charged with robbing the Clark station, 134 N. Richmond St., at 9:30 p.m. March 8. Police said $300 was taken after one of the robbers pulled a handgun on the two attendants.

A trial date of Oct. 13 was set Monday for Theodore F. Christjohn, 24, route 1, Oneida, charged with operating a vehicle while intoxicated, driving without a valid license, and operating an unregistered vehicle.

The trial date was set by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, where Christjohn pleaded not guilty to the charges July 27.

Christjohn was arrested about 2:20 a.m. June 18 on Second Ridge Road and State 54 in the Town of Oneida.

Foxes Split Doubleheader, Lead Northern Division

BY GENE LILLIGE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

After putting his name in the Foxes' record book in the first game, Lamar Johnson decided to do something to put his teammates on the winning side in the second as Appleton split a doubleheader with Decatur Tuesday night.

Johnson collected half of Appleton's four hits in the first game, including his 20th home run of the season to the Sam Bowers' club mark set in 1961 but it was not enough against hard-throwing Ken Kohlmyer as the Foxes dropped an 8-2 decision.

In the finale, the 6-2, 215-pound first baseman from Bessemer, Alabama, cracked two hits in three trips and batted in three runs as the Decatur pitcher fought to touch bounded with a 6-4 win.

Ahead of Royals
The split, coupled with Waterloo's 1-0 loss to Quincy, moved the Appleton one-half game ahead of the Royals in the Midwest League's Northern Division.

Mike Reynolds also homered in the opener, his fifth. Kohlmyer (10-7) worked with a big lead after his teammates bombed Appleton for eight runs in the first four innings.

After retiring the first four men he faced, Ed Holly was literally forced from the mound by the Commodores' attack through the initial four frames. With one out in the second inning, Rick Glazebrook and Charlie Munsch both ripped singles through the box. After Mike Kerr singled off the first base bag for a run, Holly uncorked a wild pitch to allow another run to score.

Tim Day then forced Holly from the mound by careering a hit off Holly's back to score the third run of the inning. Day was caught stealing, and after issuing a single to Kohlmyer and a walk to Mike Eden, Kurt Best got out of the inning — thanks to Kohlmyer's mistake.

Fails to Touch 3rd
Tom Smith fired a screw ball that appeared to score Kohlmyer in three runs as the Decatur pitcher fought to touch bounded with a 6-4 win.

Drives in Two
Patterson hit a home run with a sacrifice bunt while Dan Rourke and Mike Morrison (like the bases full) who led a hard single to center for two runs.

After Patterson fanned to open the third, the Foxes were ahead when Rourke reached first after being hit by a pitch. Mike Buskey doubled for one. It was Patterson's 25th start of the season, one short of Dean Chace's mark set in 1969. Patterson scattered three hits and led to center

The Foxes host Decatur again tonight in a 7:30 p.m. contest at Goodland Field. Tuesday night's crowd of 1,397 boosted Appleton's season attendance figure to 70,142.

PACKER PROFILE

LEE REMMEL

BY LEE REMMEL

GREEN BAY — "If you could put two inches and 20 pounds on Cal Withrow, he would be illegal.

Delivered in open admiration by offensive line coach Rolfe Dotsch, he has literally hung on to a pro football career by his fingernails for the last three years through sheer grit and relentless hustle.

"Just for example, take one thing Cal did in our final game against Miami last season," Dotsch offered. "He went down on a kickoff and hit his man so hard, he got up slowly. A little while later, he hit the same guy on another kickoff and that time he didn't get up.

"The point of this is that one game then was out of reach, but Cal was still playing like it was the Super Bowl. He's the kind of a guy who approaches the game enthusiastically — it's fun for him. He enjoys it, and as a result, it keeps everybody else."

At a shade under six feet and a mere 225 pounds, Withrow has to enjoy what he's doing. These are exceedingly modest dimensions with which to be tending off a defensive lineman packing 270 or 280 pounds.

Hustle and Scrap
 "A guy his size has to hustle and scrap 100 per cent all the time," Dotsch said. "There isn't any slumps. He has to live up to this ability on every play to stay around."

That, he noted, is something Withrow does automatically.

He's the kind of a guy who doesn't ask any quarter or give any on the football field," Dotsch said. "Pound for pound, he probably hits as hard as any of our people."

The former University of Kentucky athlete, a New York Giant and San Diego Charger before coming to the Packers in 1971, admits that this has become a way of life to him. out of necessity.

"The thing is I know that if you don't do it," he says. "You won't be around. Today, they say you have to be 6-3 and weigh 250 pounds or they won't look at you. It's a standard thing — Some people won't give you a break unless you're big.

'Given Me a Chance'

"I guess that's why I like Green Bay so much because they've given me a chance. There probably are a hundred guys on the street who could make it, but they've never been given the chance. Coach Dotsch and Coach Dotsch have been very fair with me. If you do something better than somebody else, reward it. I play."

At San Diego, they had a couple of big guys at center. I played pretty well on the special teams for them, but they said they couldn't afford to keep me.

"But I don't think size is so important any more. Since Alan Page has been around, he's only 235 and I think he's changed a little thinking about that."

"Actually, I think there's a certain advantage to being a little smaller. Take Kenny Bowman, our starting center. He's not the biggest center around, but his techniques probably are a little better than some of the big studs around the league have."

"Kenny and I probably use some techniques that aren't orthodox to those bigger fellows. It's more hustle than doing it the right way," says Cal, who is moustachioed these days like most of his fellow offensive linemen. "I think Kenny's a good example of what that can do for you. He's a fine player and I think what I have learned from him and Coach Dotsch has kept me around for another year. If I make it.

"I prefer being a little smaller, actually. It gives me a bigger lift to know I've kicked the stuffings out of a bigger guy. . . You keep thinking you would like to be bigger, but if I were a bigger man, I wouldn't have the fortitude to play like I do."

Companionship is not Withrow's only asset. Dotsch says "In 20 games last season, Cal didn't have a bad snap to the punter all year," he reported. "And that's including our second Detroit game in Milwaukee on the worst night you could imagine. It rained all afternoon and all through the game."

His sound technique-wise, he's quick enough to make a left overpower people, he can be the to drive in other ways than a bigger guy wouldn't. He keeps the guys honest. He's just liable to start doing the carroll when we go from one end to another."

Cal, a flamboyantly courageous type who has been known to take on mountainous teammate Bob Brown over a minor "misunderstanding" during practice, admits he psyches himself for combat. "I deliberately try to get myself excited for a game," he says. "I also admit I give out a few licks out there. . . I'm not one of the perfect ones. But if you want to sell me like that, you're going to get hurt, too."

Withrow, who actually began his pro career in 1968 when he was drafted by the Giants and was cut early after checking into camp at a scant 190 pounds, is content with his lot at the moment.

"I got no complaints," he says. "I'd like to play first string, but the guy in front of me is hard to beat out. . . I've been pretty lucky, I guess, for a little run."

EW Soccer League Schedules Meeting

The post-season meeting of the Eastern Wisconsin Soccer League will be held Friday night at the Whiting Boathouse, Neenah.

Champion Oshkosh Peoples Brewery (6-0) will be honored. The Neenah-Menasha Twins (4-1) finished second, with the Appleton Kickers (1-4) and Fond du Lac Lums (1-4) tied for third.

Green Hits 38 to Key Reed '5' to Victory

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Johnny Green, the 38-year-old jumping jack of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, scored 22 points, leading a National Basketball Association All-Star team coached by Willis Reed to an 85-82 victory over an NBA squad coached by Red Auerbach Tuesday night in the Maurice Stokes Memorial Game.

Green, named the game's Most Valuable Player, poured in 14 points in the second quarter.

Spencer Haywood of the Seattle SuperSonics chipped in with 17 points and a game-high 15 rebounds for the winners.

Billy Cunningham, formerly of the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers and now with the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association, led the losers in scoring with 17 points. Dave Cowens of the Boston Celtics had 11 points and 12 rebounds for Auerbach's team.

Before the game at Kutsher's Country Club, a ceremony of honoring a heart attack on the late Stokes was turned over to Lee Williams, curator of the National Basketball Hall of Fame in his honor.

Stokes was a star with the Cincinnati Royals before being stricken by encephalitis on waukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association, quoted in an interview in the Milwaukee Sentinel, is taking a summer course in Arabic. He said he isn't certain what

Noonan Out 8-12 Weeks

Landry Remains Optimistic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't count the Dallas Cowboys out of the Super Bowl just because they've lost starting quarterback Roger Staubach with a shoulder separation and traded powerful running back Duane Thomas to San Diego.

That's what Coach Tom Landry says.

"Most people will write us off," Landry said Tuesday.

The Cowboy coach was quick to point out, however, that Craig Morton, the first-string quarterback before trading the job to Staubach last season, was capable of directing the '06, and running back Calvin Hill, National Football League Offensive Rookie of the Year in 1969, was regaining the form after being slowed by a knee injury last season.

Meanwhile, backfield coach Don Reeves was reacquainted to back up Morton, and Staubach was optimistic while recuperating in Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

"I'll be okay," said Staubach, who underwent surgery Sunday after being injured Saturday night in an exhibition game against Los Angeles.

Stronger Than Ever

"I'll come back stronger than ever."

Elsewhere in the NFL, Miami wide receiver Karl Noonan, who also suffered a shoulder separation last Saturday in an exhibition against Green Bay, underwent surgery Tuesday. He will be sidelined 8-12 weeks.

The Dolphins lost defensive end Bob Herz for at least two months with fractured vertebra. He also was hurt in the Green Bay game.

The Dolphins also announced they had traded defensive tackle Frank Corbitt to Buffalo in a trade with the Dolphins. Corbitt is a center-tackle. Howard King of King's College is coming out of retirement.

Re the wide receiver Jerome Barkum, the New York Jets will claim him from Jacksonville. Barkum has a holdout and signed his 1973 contract.

"Never Came Back" — Offensive tackle Don Yachum, the Philadelphia Eagles' No. 1 draft pick from Syracuse University, was held in limbo Monday, left the club Tuesday and signed with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

"Everything seemed to be in order," said Pete Retzlaff, Eagles' general manager. "We sent him to Graduate Hospital to take his physical while I prepared the contract. He never came back."

Twenty-four Pittsburgh Steelers players and six coaches, including head coach Chuck Noll, were stricken with virus. But it didn't stop any of them from practicing Tuesday.

The Oakland Raiders said running back Clarence Davis would be out 10 weeks with a broken bone in his right shoulder, suffered in Monday night's exhibition game against Baltimore.

Hal Schumerth Resigns as Grid Coach at OHS-W

Harold Schumerth, the Dean of Fox Valley football coaches, has submitted his resignation as Oshkosh West grid mentor.

Schumerth, who coached at Oshkosh High School prior to the recent split into West and North schools — for 29 years — wants to continue as athletic director. The board of education will act on his resignation request Thursday night.

Schumerth compiled a record of 131-79-12 at Oshkosh. Four times in the last eight years the Indians were voted the No. 1 high school team in the state. Schumerth's 1971 OHS team won the Fox Valley Association title.

"Personal reasons" were cited by Schumerth for his decision to resign.

GFC Football Meeting Slated

An organizational meeting for a tackle football program in the GFC (Grand Chute, Freedom and Center) Little League area will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in St. Edward's School, Mackville. Boys in the 10-12 age group, and their parents, are being requested to attend. Further information may be obtained from John Hennessy.

Steelers Eye Big Season

By GARY MIHOCS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despite a 38-year legacy of dashed hopes and faded optimism, the Pittsburgh Steelers enter this season with a new kind of confidence.

The division title that has eluded them throughout their pro football history is within reach—if they can shake their image as the "Same Old Steelers."

"It's been said 'This is the year' so many times before that it doesn't mean anything. So don't even quote me on it," said quarterback Terry Bradshaw, his eyes flashing.

"We want to do it, not talk about it," he added. "We'll prove ourselves when the season starts."

That's the attitude that seems fourth year under Coach Chuck Noll to pervade the Steelers, in their No. 1.

Noll, 49, took the job in 1969 after Bill Austin was fired, and he has led Pittsburgh to records of 1-13, 5-9 and 6-8.

Chuck Noll

One thing going for Pittsburgh is that it is in the Central Division of the American Conference with Cleveland, Houston and Cincinnati. It was the worst division in pro football record-wise in 1971, and Pittsburgh finished second to Cleveland, 9-5.

Team Failed

"I thought we should have won it in 1971," said Noll. "The team failed in the stretch when it counted most. Most of our young players have the experience now. I am very optimistic."

Noll has rebuilt the Steelers through drafts, and only seven players remain from the 1968 team.

Bradshaw, first player picked in the 1970 draft, came to Pittsburgh from Louisiana Tech. People expected superhuman things from him.

Blond-haired with boyish yet rugged features, he carries 215 straight regular season games pounds of hard muscle over a 6-foot-5 frame. A flick of his wrist sends a spiral 50 yards downfield.

Yet Bradshaw found in his Preston Pearson and Frenchy Rixon seasons that he couldn't flourish, a stubby breakaway runner with a center of gravity that passes into the teeth of sophisticated pro zones. His completion average was a sub-par strength, a weakness in 1971, 38 per cent, and he threw for only six touchdowns.

The reason, Franco Harris, added from Steeler quarters, the club's No. 1 draft choice, back coach Babe Parilli made Steve Davis, who missed all of last season, a full-time starter. Bradshaw completed 54 per cent of his passes for 13 touchdowns. He also rushed for 247 yards and three touchdowns.

On the other hand, the defense was last in the AFC last year.

Steelers receivers rank among the best in the AFC. Ron Spurlin and Dave Smith were fourth and fifth respectively in the AFC last season in catches. Another John Rowser at the corners and threat as Frank Lewis, the Chuck DeLoach and Mike Wagner (No. 1 draft pick) a year ago.

The front four, third best in the AFC, led by "Mean Joe" Mena, and the ends, with Ben McGee and Lloyd Voss at line and three tackles John Brown, the other tackle, and Jon Kolb, guards Sam Linebacking is solid with two, Davis and Bruce Van Dyke and even Chuck Allen in the middle center Ray Mansfield.

Mansfield has started 128 of the 130 games he has played in the AFC.

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said, "This is politics. We are not concerned with politics. All sportsmen will be here."

We made an agreement a year ago with all the National Olympic Committees concerned. Rhodesia was invited. Rhodesia will participate. We think for the moment that the question is settled."

A 14-member Rhodesian team arrived in Munich last week. It included seven black athletes and a black coach.

The Organization of African States, which is against Rhodesia's participation in the Games, said there is sufficient evidence that discrimination is practiced in the country.

Buy Child's Car Seat With Care, Says Expert

BY CAMILLE HANEY
Consumer Affairs Coordinator
State Justice Department

If you're taking the children on a vacation this summer or even riding to grandma's house, you should be concerned about car seats. Infants and toddlers especially need protection from quick stops or sharp turns.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration suggests you consider the following guidelines when buying a new car seat or in evaluating one that was previously purchased.

Although many people still use their seats that look over the back of the seat in your car are not safe. Besides the possibility that this type of seat may not stay anchored if you come to a quick stop, it also does not give the child protection against whiplash injury. A head rest is necessary to guard against whiplash and many new car seats are equipped with this device.

Cushions, Belts
The child's seat must give protection from front and rear impact, cushioning the child and protecting him from being thrown free. The seat's restraint belts must be at least 11 inches wide. The child's upper body should be restrained by belts or an impact pad.

When out for any seat construction of easily bent, flimsy type of restraining system for the use and age of your child, result of residents disposing infants up to 9 months can be placed in an infant car bed or infant carrier. Children 8 or 9 months up through 4 years will be safe in a child car seat or a child harness. Vehicle lap belts Robert Vondracek and Clayton and shoulder belts should be Blumreich 1st, both who have worn by children 4 or 5 years received many complaints, old who are at least 55 inches in height.

A very informative booklet concerning the purchase of car seats entitled, "What to Buy in Child Restraint Systems," is available for 20 cents. Write to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Vocational Budget May Be Trimmed

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A request for some "belt always have an increase in the tightening of these times of tax base. The group obviously had studied the budget thoroughly was made Tuesday at a public and had come prepared with hearing conducted by the Voc- recommendations for paring, tional Technical and Adult Edu- $268,000. cation District 12 board.

The operation budget is $5.6 million. The difference is made up by the building fund. The debt retirement for the district is $579,440 and the building fund expenditure is $821,819.

The increase from the previ- ous budget is a little over $1 million, but the mill rate went up only 5 cents and stands at $1.05, due to an increase in the tax base in the district.

The state allows vocational- technical districts to tax up to $2 per $1,000 equalized valuation and VTAE-12 has the lowest rate in the state, William Sirek, director, pointed out.

Educated Guessing
It also was pointed out that because of a composite of unknown figures, many of the statistics listed reflect educated guesswork.

"The only thing we know for sure," explained Donald Beno, head of finances, "is that we are receiving $100,000 less than expected in state aids. That still has to be subtracted from the income side."

Acknowledging that the district's needs are great with the new buildings and the increase in programs and enrollments, Walter Wiekert from the taxpayers' group, still asked that a cut be considered. "For one thing, you won't see the increases and the budget itself are difficult to analyze, since this is the first year the board has had to go to fiscal year budgeting.

Among the recommendations was that up only 5 cents and stands at $1.05, due to an increase in the tax base in the district.

Another $7,000 could be cut from the research and develop- ment operating costs, and an additional $20,000 from the cur- riculum recommended for the purchase of equipment.

Instructional salaries could be snipped by $60,000, it was recommended, but that is one of the unknown figures that could change drastically since the teachers' association and the board still are negotiating over last year's contract and still have not considered next year's contract.

Teacher Ratio
It also was pointed out that the teacher-student ratio is 1:18, which the taxpayers group seemed to feel was quite small.

In answer to this, Stanley Spanbauer, head of the instruc- tion group, still asked that a

Oshkosh-Appleton Defended

North Central Denies 'Hyphen' Confusion

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Pressured by lengthy cross-examination, the vice president of sales and traffic of North Central Airlines defended his airline's service to Appleton via Oshkosh's airport and warned that eliminating Appleton officially from its market through dehyphenation would damage the airline financially and not be in the public's interest.

David Moran, who was on the stand for about three hours Tuesday afternoon, said at the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearing on whether to dehyphenate the Oshkosh-Appleton route certification of North Central that the airline opposed the dehyphenation.

He denied that there was confusion caused by passengers ending up in Oshkosh when they testified to land in Appleton and testified that the drive from the Oshkosh airport to Appleton wasn't an inconvenience in air travel.

Moran was cross-examined by Alexander Argerakis, senior trial attorney for the CAB operating rights bureau, and John Menn, legal counsel for Appleton-Outagamie County.

Offer Option
In cross-examination, he admitted that North Central reservations clerks promote North Central flights to Appleton with customers who ask for tickets to Appleton. But, he added, he felt that he could "not deny our employees the right to encourage the use of our airline."

He said North Central clerks offer travelers the option of North Central to Appleton via the Oshkosh airport. He agreed with Argerakis that "it might be" confusing to Appleton-bound travelers unfamiliar with the Appleton-Oshkosh area to tell them that they can land in either the Oshkosh or Appleton airports.

Appleton-Outagamie's petition seeking dehyphenation contends that passengers and freight coming to Appleton have been misdirected to Oshkosh because of the hyphenated listing in North Central's route designation certification. Numerous dehyphenation witnesses have testified since last Tuesday that they or their firms have suffered inconvenience or expense because of this.

Separate Markets
Appleton - Outagamie specifically is requesting that the two air markets — Oshkosh and Appleton — be separated, and that Air Wisconsin, the Appleton-based commuter air carrier, serve the Fox Cities and North Central, the second-level airline, serve Oshkosh.

Wisconsin Rapids - Marshfield and Sheboygan are seeking similar dehyphenations from North Central's Manitowish-Sheboygan and Mosinee-Wausau-Stevens Point-Marshfield-Wisconsin Rapids route certifications.

Moran urged that the petition be rejected. He said the dehyphenation of the three points would cost North Central about $158,000 in revenues in the first full year. The dehyphenation probably would increase Air Wisconsin's passenger and freight shipments since North Central would no longer officially be serving the Appleton area.

Moran also testified that hyphenation was the result of CAB policy for regional airports and he said "dehyphenation would establish a strong precedent for abolition of that policy."

"Disserve to Public"
But the most serious consequence, he said, be the "grave

Chilton Enacts Rules For City Park Users

CHILTON — A park regulation ordinance was approved Tuesday evening by the City Council.

The ordinance will cover activities in both Hobart and Kunkner parks.

Persons wishing to use any portion of the parks must obtain a permit from the city clerk within 90 days of such intended use. Permits will be issued under the conditions that no person may:

—Operate vehicles or ride horses except on clearly marked areas.

—Park or enter on the grounds between the hours of 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.

—Carry, keep or use firearms or other shooting devices except as authorized by the city.

—Disturb or molest property in any way.

Designated Areas
—Build any fires upon the grounds except in the designated fire areas.

—Leave garbage or debris except in refuse cans.

—Take, have or keep any dog or cat on such public grounds.

—Be intoxicated or disorderly in any way.

—Use any public facility in a way that causes damage or destruction.

—Ride bicycles except in the parking area and on the roadway.

—Ride snowmobiles, except in the Hobart Park area.

A penalty of not less than $200 will be assessed for each violation according to state Department of Natural Resources standards.

The City Council also approved a fermented malt license to the new Calumet County Agricultural emporium will be set at $6 per ton. Final touches on the building

Marion Awards Fuel, Milk Bids for New School Year

MARION — Bids for fuel and milk were awarded for the coming year Monday night by the board of Marion Joint School District No. 3.

Bowers Oil Co. of Marion received the fuel oil bid at 12.89 and 15.49 cents per gallon, respectively.

Northern Coal Co. of Green Bay received the coal bid at $28.70 per net ton.

For those who received flu vaccines last year, only one vaccination is necessary. For others a second vaccination will be given later in the fall.

The board also voted to purchase a Universal Exerciser machine to be used in physical education and athletic programs at the high school.

The money for the machine will not come out of the budget but will be paid for out of profits made at the state baseball tournaments the past two years plus $400 donated by the M club for this purpose.

In other action, the board voted to purchase four instruments for the music department, including an alto saxophone for the junior band, a saxophone for the junior band, a saxophone for the junior band, a saxophone for the junior band.

The board also voted to pay the kindergarten classes in three sections because 64 par-

WAUPACA — The County Board Tuesday approved the appointment of Walter Cura as vice chairman, as one of the three Waupaca County representatives on the new East Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

Board Chairman Woodrow Smith, who automatically becomes a representative on the new commission, made the appointment. It was unanimously approved. Cura is Town of Dayton chairman and past president of the Waupaca Area Council of Governments.

Smith asked the supervisors for a list of names to submit to the Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, from continued approximately 40 feet which the chief executive will make his appointment. A minimum of six names will be submitted to the governor, four of which are to be citizens and two to be public officials.

The list Smith received includes Stewart Craig, Manawa; George Borchardt, King; Donald Abbott, Joe Oberlin, Duane Brown, Lyle McCuley and Thomas Matnewson, New London; Henry Resch, Town of Mukwa; Clifford Goetz, Town of Rehoboth; and Janice M. Smith, Marion, and Ed Wanta, Clintonville.

50 Per Cent
Smith told the supervisors that Waupaca County was a few short in getting over 50 per cent of its municipalities to sign a resolution which will enable the commission to be controlled by local and county officials. He asked the board members to get their resolutions in this week.

The East Central Commission, he said, meets on Friday in Oshkosh. The 10-county commission hopes to be in business by Sept. 1.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson asked for a resolution giving the county a full-time assistant district attorney. Terry C. Rehbohl, who has been part-time district attorney since June 1, has indicated that he will work full time. The board passed the organization requested that the Anderson, part-time district attorney, receives a salary of $11,000, of which $4,500 is paid by the state.

Retrospective
A request from Anderson that he be paid $25,000 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1971, was approved and the matter referred to the county committee for working out details.

Anderson explained that he had boxed in his legal stenographers' salary at $600 without an opportunity for salary increase, in his original resolution and wanted it rectified. The board promised that an adjustment would be made.

Smith said there was no way to say that all future County Board meetings would be at night. He said he would advise the organization requested that the Potter Residents Plan Annual Corn Roast POTTER — The Potter Community Association will sponsor its annual fall festival and free corn roast beginning at 6 p.m. today. In the event of rain it will be held Thursday. Prizes for attendance include 60 half cases of canned vegetables and 40 bags of potatoes. Funds from the affair go toward community betterment projects.

Track Lease Sought at Fairgrounds

WAUPACA — Arnie Tranter, president of the Waupaca County Fair Association, asked the county board Tuesday for a five-year lease on the county fair grounds track each year for $50,000. All gate receipts above expenses would go to the county. He explained that committees within the association are now in the process of selling 200 on-board spaces at $250 each, which will be part of the sound barrier erected at the track, to area advertisers. The Association, now in the process of incorporation, could have the track ready for the first races within three weeks. There would be stock car races, demolition exhibitions, midget car racing, go-cart racing snowmobile and ice racing and ATV racing — all with areas drivers. Asked what the track would do to horse racing on the grounds, Tranter said it would not interfere. He also said the program would differ from the one at the Shawano Fair grounds because professional drivers would not be allowed to compete. "Every car on the track would have a maximum limit of $500 and could be claimed for what price, with the owner forced to sell," Tranter claimed. "This would keep out the professional." The county board would not have to give up any of its jurisdiction over the grounds, he added. Tranter also dismissed concern that the fair would lose its image of a youth fair. The matter was referred to the Agriculture Committee for further study. Following a public hearing on the issue scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 23 at city hall, Weyauwega. The Association has been approached by five independent firms offering to build the track.

South-Central BABA Set For Playoffs

The south-central division of the Badger Amateur Baseball Association will start playoff action this Sunday afternoon with New London at Waupaca and Scandinavia at Symco.

Waupaca won the division championship for the regular season with a 1-1 record. Symco and New London tied for second with 11-3 records but Symco won the second place spot in the playoffs by virtue of scoring the most runs in two encounters with New London. Scandinavia finished with a 7-7 record.

Other south-central standings are Weyauwega (5-8), Lanarak (5-9), Rosholt (3-11) and Buena Vista (0-13). Weyauwega and Buena Vista will not play their makeup game.

Art Kreuger, secretary of the south-central division for the past five years, will resign his position because he is moving to Merrill. Division president Stanley "Smiley" Miller is seeking a replacement.

Marion School District Begins Classes Aug. 30

MARION — All schools in the Joint School District will begin classes for the 1972-73 school year on Wednesday, Aug. 30. A full day of classes is scheduled for the first day. Teachers will report for an in-service meeting on Monday, Aug. 28. Staff members will be introduced and a presentation made by Dr. Jack Smith, staff director of the Educational Goals Task Force for the state of Wisconsin. Tuesday's in-service will permit teachers to prepare their rooms for opening of school on Wednesday. The school lunch program will begin the first day of school with prices the same as last year. Lunches for grades 1-6 will be 35 cents per day, $1.25 per week, $10 per nine weeks, $18 per semester or $35 for the entire school year. Lunch prices for grades 7-12 will be 40 cents per day, $1.50 per week, $12 per nine weeks, $23 per semester or $45 for the entire school year. Milk purchased separately at noon will cost 5 cents. Milk for the morning milk breaks in grades K-6 is $1.80 per pupil for the entire school year payable at the beginning of the year. The room assignments for grades K-8 will be mailed to the parents. Class schedules for the high school students will be mailed to the students Aug. 24. A new eight-hour school day will be in effect for grades 7-12. Jan. School will begin at 8:20 a.m. and end at 3:19 p.m. Lunch for high school students will be from 11:34 a.m. to 12:05 p.m. and for the junior high students from noon to 12:30 p.m. The high school fees are the same as last year, $5. The fee covers towel service, class dues, school newspaper and lyceum. The towel fee for junior high students is $2.60. The fee is payable on the first day of school. All students using school-owned musical instruments must also pay a $20 annual rental fee.

2 Fined $250 In Drug Count

Men Charged With Having Marijuana In Town of Dayton

WAUPACA — Max P. Dodson, 22, route 2, and Robert D. Seno, 20, Beloit, pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of possession of marijuana and were fined $250 each by County Judge Nathan Wiese. Wiese also sentenced the men to one year in the county jail, but the sentence was stayed and the two were placed on a year's probation. According to the Waupaca Sheriff's Department, Seno and Dodson were arrested on Saturday on Knight Lake in the Town of Dayton. In searching the premises deputies found a leather satchel containing what was described as a large quantity of marijuana and approximately $51 in cash. A charge of intent to sell the drug had originally been lodged against the two men, but was later dropped by the court.

Javettes to Aid Project Concern

NEW LONDON — The local Javettes decided recently to donate a copy of "Faraway Country" to the public library, make hygiene kits, and do other things to aid Project Concern.

Jan Gruetzmacher of the local club has been named regional director for the project.

All volunteers at the Adult Activity Center have been asked to have TB skin tests, which will be given at the First Congregation Church at 10 a.m. Aug. 23.

The club has scheduled a fur style show for Oct. 19, and a committee was appointed to help with the details.

Lois Hammerseng, state vice president, will speak at the chapter's next meeting on parliamentary procedure. Jan. Schmalenberg and Mary Czaja will be the hostesses.

Weyauwega Lutheran

WEYAUWEGA — Students who will attend St. Peter's Lutheran School during the 1972-73 school year will register Tuesday. Registration will be held between the hours of 9 a.m. and 7 and 9 p.m. Classes will begin on Monday, Aug. 28.

propose to Gov. Patrick Lucey that the East Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission select to give each of 10 counties in the region local representation. The action enforces the plan for each county to have the chairman of the county board, an official appointed by the chairman and approved by the county board and one representative from the county appointed by the governor.

Approval was given to borrow $15,000 to pay for the water main improvement on High Street, from the First National Bank for six months at interest not to exceed 5.5 per cent. This is approximately one-half of the total project on High and Center streets. The remaining half will be borrowed when the Center

The council approved sending Assessor Lonnie Sherman to the Municipal Assessor's meeting Sept. 12 and 15 at Eagle River.

Bartender's License

The license committee presented the application of Paul Springsteen for a bartender's license. Springsteen, a city employee, will not be granted the license until a meeting is held with his boss, Gene Sorensen, and the board of public works. Some aldermen expressed the view that no city employee should be granted a bartender's license. Others suggested that if he is qualified, he should not be denied the license. Mayor Ray toe said he thought the city is not in a legal position to deny a license.

Ald. Gerald Hanson, (3rd); Ald. Dennis Schultz (4th) and Ald. La Vern Hanke (4th) voted against the meeting with Sorensen. Voting yes were Ald. George Johnson and Ald. Edsall Hinton (1st); Ald. Waldeman Johnson and Ald. Edward Spanauer (2nd); Ald. Marlin Looker (3rd); Ald. Vernon Johnson and Ald. Elmer Feltz (5th).

$5,000,000 per person and $500,000 per accident, plus $100,000 liability for property damage, he said.

The board's position and coverage had been questioned, since the gates are open all the time and the grounds are frequently leased. The fair board as the responsibility for purchasing insurance for special events and evidence of the purchase must be filed with the county clerk or the property committee, Ciura added.

The New $60,000 Community Hall and fire station, owned jointly by the town and Village of Stockbridge, will be dedicated Sunday with an open house scheduled for 1 to 4 p.m. The new facility, built jointly by town and village funds, is in Legion-Firemen's Park in the village. (Thiel Photo) another survey, found no complaints from passengers or freight-shippers in the areas affected by the dehyphenation. He said the only hyphen-related complaint he could recall since being named vice president in 1967 was at Ludington-Manistee, Mich.

He also defended North Central's service to Appleton as explained in the Official Airline Guide. He said shippers and passengers should not be confused by the listing adding that to dehyphenate and thus eliminate the listing's cross-reference to North Central serving Appleton — would add to the confusion.

G. E. Heinecke, group vice president of Klau-Van Pietersom-Dunlap, Inc., Milwaukee, testified earlier that a North Central-requested telephone survey by his firm indicated that there was little confusion at the reservations level in getting air service to the Oshkosh-Appleton area.

He said his firm, which has done promotional work for surface journey to Appleton for 25 years, wasn't an inconvenience. Appleton Benefitted

Under cross-examination by Argerakis and Menn, Moran testified that the Appleton area had benefited from the improved air service that North

Lutheran Editor To Give Sermon

WEYAUWEGA — The Rev. Harold Wicke will be the guest preacher Sunday at the third in a series of centennial celebrations at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church.

The Rev. Wicke is the editor of "The Northwestern Lutheran," official organ of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod. He served the local church from 1950-1958.

Eldor Kopitzke, a former confirmand now teaching in a parochial school in Brillion, will serve as guest organist. Special music will be sung by the senior choir and the younger school children.

The confirmation classes of 1954-1972 will be honored at the dinner served by members of the Ladies Aid.

North Central's position would be on an arrangement whereby North Central would suspend hyphenated service to Appleton, in favor of Air Wisconsin, but with the stipulation that North Central would begin serving the area, if Air Wisconsin stopped.

Fire Levels Large Barn on Fairgrounds

SEYMOUR — Fire Tuesday night destroyed the larger of two horse barns on the Outagamie County Fairgrounds.

Seymour Fire Chief Earl Eick reported.

The fire department was summoned to the grounds at 6 p.m.

No estimate of damage to the 30-stall building has been made and an investigation of the cause of the blaze is under way.

According to a fair official, no decision has been made concerning replacement of the structure, which housed the office of the superintendent and the tack room. A small amount of personal property damage was incurred.

The building and contents were partially covered by insurance, the official said.

No animals were in the barn at the time of the fire.

tional services division, explained that the ratio has not only been increased in the past few years, it is considerably above the 1:14 found at the University of Wisconsin campuses.

Besides, he argued, six new programs were added, which means the enrollment has to be built up in some of these. And a number of them were in the health fields, with the state board of nursing allowing only 12 students per teacher.

Overtime, instructional travel, professional growth and instructional supplies and equipment repairs all came in for cuts.

So did the library, where it was suggested that $10,000 be cut.

Empty Shelves

Wickert did note, however, that as he had passed the library he had noticed that many shelves were empty and he acknowledged that there may be a factor unknown to him which could make a difference in the cut request.

A member of the administration explained that there was, in fact, such a factor. The library, he said, was in poor shape before the move to the new facility.

"Since we hope for accreditation next year, we have to build up the library, which is one of the requirements. So far, we have only 10,000 volumes and according to the North Central Association, that figure should be 40,000," he said.

The FVTI budget is based on an estimated $2,685 million tax base, an increase of 5 per cent over last year. However, the not been released by the state over last year. However, the total and exact valuation has not been released by the state and is one of the variables and educated guesses made by Beno.

At $1.05 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, $2,820 million would be raised. The operation rate, however, is only 83 cents while the debt retirement on the facility is 22 cents per $1,000.

State aids based on the 1971-72 school year also changed as of Tuesday night, having been $1,641 million.

Nearly all figures will now have to be revised in view of the additional information as well as the probable cuts.

Jaycees to Clown In New London Donkey Baseball

NEW LONDON — Donkey baseball featuring members of the Jaycees and an area woman's sorority team will be staged at 8 p.m. Friday at Hatten Stadium.

The proceeds will go to payers for the Pfeiffer Park shelter house, a Jaycee community project.

The event, sponsored by the Jaycees, will feature men dressed as women and women dressed as men, all playing on donkeys.

The Mukwa Firebirds are donating their time for the event.

Hot dogs, popcorn, candy, beer and soda will be sold.

Jaycee players are Orlan Harriet, Little Annie Fannie, Geraldine, Aunt Jemima, and Ernestine.

Tickets, $1 for adults and 75 cents for students, can be purchased at local businesses or at the gate.

Kimberly Schools Open For New Registrants

KIMBERLY — School buildings throughout the district will be open Monday for persons desiring to register students for the coming school year and who have not previously been registered, according to School Superintendent Ray Hamann.

All students who attended public school in the district last year have been registered. Student orientation day at the schools has been scheduled for Aug. 30 with the regular classes to begin Aug. 31.

New London Police Make July Report

Auto Theft, Fraud, Burglaries Most Important Crimes

NEW LONDON — During July the police department reported to 135 complaints, including one auto theft, 13 bicycle complaints, two burglaries and two cases of fraud.

Other complaints investigated included 13 disorderly acts, 16 complaints about dogs, one case of mental illness, one missing person and one sex offense. They also investigated 11 cases of theft, two cases concerning window peepers and prowlers, and 15 cases of vandalism.

Because of the vandalism, the department recovered just $205 worth of the $2,419 of property loss due to theft and destruction.

The department also checked 59 vacant homes for vacationers, assisted the public 252 times, and assisted other police agencies 61 times. They handled 38 juveniles, held four prisoners in the city jail, and answered 37 fire calls.

They made 38 arrests, including seven for theft, two for drunkenness, and one for performing an unauthorized person to operate an auto.

There were 26 accidents in the month, with only four resulting in injuries.

The department took in $1,064 in parking meter funds, $50 from illegal parking, $31 on bike registrations, $22 for camping permits, and $1,832 from court-ordered fines.

Federal aid totaling $900, half of the cost of the department's new radar unit, was also received during July.

Little Chute Slates Last Review Session

LITTLE CHUTE — The final meeting of the Board of Review has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday in the village hall, according to Clerk - Treasurer Gerald Loy.

Loy indicated that review of the assessment roll could have been completed earlier but several citizens asked to appear before the board and were unable to adjust schedules to meet at previous board sessions.

Lawyers Endorse No-Fault Insurance Only at State Level

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — now clog the courts would become unnecessary.

The American Bar Association has proposed that all states provide "no-fault" automobile insurance — and that the federal government stay out.

The plan approved late Tuesday by the policy-setting House of Delegates would guarantee all injured drivers, passengers and pedestrians recovery of up to $2,000 in medical payments and lost wages without suing.

However, under a last-minute change, they would be free to sue for "pain and suffering."

This provision weakened the "no-fault" proposal, although most of the accident suits that model law that would eliminate most suits for general damages and would provide lifetime compensation for lost wages up to $200 a week as well as unlimited medical payments.

The 315-member House also approved an amendment opposing any federal law on auto insurance. "Any change which may be made in the so-called automobile accident reparations system should be by state action," according to the provision.

The Senate last week shelved a tough federal law backed by Sens. Philip Hart of Michigan and Warren Magnuson of Washington by a 49-46 vote.

Fischer, Spassky Draw Mob Violence Ended, Says Kleindienst

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer was only four points away from the world chess championship today after a draw in view of his big draw in the 14th game with defending champion Boris Spassky.

Fischer led the match 3½-3½ after blunders by both players produced the draw Tuesday in a four-hour game of 40 moves.

The American challenger and the Russian met again Thursday in their 15th game.

Then Spassky will be playing the white chessmen, giving him the advantage of the first move, but his chances of overtaking Fischer appear slimmer by the minute.

The Yugoslav grandmaster, Svetozar Gligoric, said at the end of Tuesday's game: "Fischer is simply the better player."

With a win counting one point and a draw half, Fischer needs a total of 12½ to upset Spassky. To keep his title, the Russian needs 12 points, but that is 6½ more than he has.

International grandmaster Isaac Kasdan said in an analysis for The Associated Press that Tuesday's game consisted of: "Part One—Fischer blunders, loses pawns; Part Two—Spassky blunders, recovers pawns; Part Three—players realize they can do no more damage, agree on a draw."

Fischer played the Queen's Gambit Declined, but "Spassky Schmid rejected Fischer's protracted easy time in developing fast that the postponement had his pieces," Kasdan said, been ordered without getting while the American "moved his details of the Russian's ill-kingside pieces up and back in mess."

The champion realized his last opportunity almost immediately. With his back to the audience, he rubbed his hair and the back of his neck.

They played another 13 moves, then Fischer stood and extended his hand to Spassky to signify his proposal for the draw.

Spassky accepted. As the audience streamed out of the Press that Tuesday's game consisted of: "Part One—Fischer blunders, loses pawns; Part Two—Spassky blunders, recovers pawns; Part Three—players realize they can do no more damage, agree on a draw."

Fischer played the Queen's Gambit Declined, but "Spassky Schmid rejected Fischer's protracted easy time in developing fast that the postponement had his pieces," Kasdan said, been ordered without getting while the American "moved his details of the Russian's ill-kingside pieces up and back in mess."

Mob Violence Ended, Says Kleindienst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst says "mob violence" has been curbed in the nation.

Speaking to the American Bar Association's annual meeting Tuesday, Kleindienst said this was accomplished by "firmness in the public defense" by the Nixon administration and a growing realization that change can be brought about in a peaceful way.

"There are those who, disturbed by this policy against violence, have used the term 'repressive' against this national administration," Kleindienst said.

"But when a mob attempts to enforce its views by riot, arson and mayhem, who is the repressor?" He said mob violence "was threatening the very stability of our country" when Nixon took office in January 1969.

Kleindienst spoke to some 1,500 attorneys and judges.

Earlier Tuesday, U.S. Justice Byron R. White said unless the work load in the Supreme Court stops increasing, a new level of appellate courts will be needed.

He said the court now must refuse hearings in 90 to 92 percent of the cases filed. White said 10 years ago the Supreme Court heard at least 15 percent of the cases filed.

He suggested an alternative would be creation of a national intermediate court below the Supreme Court level.

State Laborers pushing on bars work the capstan that opens and closes the Deer Island drawspan over the Merrimack River at Newburyport, Mass. It takes 20 minutes to open the draw bridge and another 20 minutes to close it, while motorists and boatmen wait. A motor is being installed which will take only 100 seconds to open or close the span; it will be operated from a single button. (AP Wirephoto)

Injured Driver Wants Wrongs Righted

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP) — It's been six years since Gerald Raspiller heard the scream of rubber on the pavement behind his car and felt the pain as his head snapped back over his seat.

He still wears a neck brace for the damage to his spine. He still faces the threat of foreclosure on his farm and equipment.

And he still hasn't been able to pay those back taxes.

Raspiller, about 42, a Lyndon Station farmer and custom crop harvester, was struck by an uninsured motorist.

He said he accepted a $10,000 settlement for the injuries on the advice of his attorney, who received $2,500.

Now, Raspiller says, he knows he never should have agreed to the settlement.

Doctor, hospital, legal and other bills and revenue lost because he was unable to work add up to more than $32,000 he says.

Ex-Women-Marines Meet at Pearl Harbor

HONOLULU (AP) — The Women Marines Association has presented a plaque aboard the USS Arizona memorial at Pearl Harbor "in loving memory of the United States Marines who gave their lives in the service of their country."

The presentation was made Tuesday by Olga C. Bullock of Coronado, Calif., national president of the association.

About 350 former women Marines are attending the association's seventh biennial convention here.

Peron to Leave Exile To Go to Argentina

MADRID (AP) — Juan D. Peron's personal representative in Buenos Aires says the former Argentine dictator will return to his homeland this year.

But Hector J. Campora indicated in talking with newsmen Tuesday that Peron might be ousted by a military coup 17 years ago, probably would not return in time to file his candidacy for president by the Aug. 25 filing deadline for next year's election.

The 76-year-old Peron has been considering the possibility of attempting a comeback.

Teller Dies Of Wounds In Robbery

Alma Center Bank Held Up, About $2,000 Taken

ALMA CENTER, Wis. (AP) — A teller who was found unconscious after a bank holdup Tuesday died en route to a La Crosse hospital while investigators sought a clue to the identity of her assailant.

Officials at La Crosse Lutheran Hospital said Mrs. Claire Emerson, 59, of Alma Center was fatally wounded in the head by a gunshot.

She was the only employee in the Alma Center branch of Jackson County Bank when it was robbed about noon of about $2,000, bank manager Stanley Held said.

Other witnesses declined to say whether they had a clue to the number of persons involved.

Deputies issued an alert for a motorcycleist seen leaving the western Wisconsin community in a hurry, but reported later as apparently had no link with the holdup.

The subsequently said they were looking for a cream-colored 1968 or 1969 Honda.

Bank customers found Mrs. Emerson lying in a pool of blood in a rear room where there had been a robbery.

Mrs. Emerson, a mother of three children, had been a teller for about 20 years.

She and Held were held at gunpoint in September by a robber who took about $4,000.

Brothers Killed In Auto Crash

Two brothers from Trempealeau County died in one of the worst two-person car crashes Monday night in 1972.

Walter Peaslee, 22, and his brother Stephen, 19, were killed in a head-on collision on U.S. 53 near the south of Forest Lake.

James Peaslee, 22, of Trempealeau County, was driving a 1971 Ford Mustang when he was involved in the crash.

James Peaslee lost his life when his motorcycle and a truck collided on U.S. 53 one mile north of Ettrick in Trempealeau County.
